Ag Funding Increases With Passage Of State Budget

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff today hailed passage to Governor Robert P. Casey's budget supplement.

"This additional funding puts agriculture in Pennsylvania on a fast track," said Wolff. "These significant increases in Department funding will breathe new life into efforts for research, animal health and product promotion.

"After years of declining support for agriculture in Pennsylvania," added Wolff, "the increase is particularly gratifying because it funds programs that will do the most good for our producers and processors."

State Senator Edward Helfrick (R-27), who is the chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the agriculture community suffered greatly under the Governor's budget cuts. "Fortunately, the Republican legislators worked to restore funding for several important programs and negotiated $8.5 million more for agriculture than the Governor had approved," Helfrick said. Those programs include:

* A $1,500,000 increase for agriculture research;
* Restoration of $150,000 for

PSU Dairy Science Club Plans Another Classic Sale

STATE COLLEGE—Put together about 80 head of registered Holsteins that have records on the dams up to over 30,000 lbs. of milk and classified excellent and you have another Nittany Lion Fall Classic. The Dairy Science Club here at Penn State has been looking all over Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Maryland and Delaware for consignments to their 5th annual learning project.

"We have the most consignments ever," said Donald Welk, selection committee chairman. "The sale has made a name for itself as being successful. It's known all over the eastern United States. In addition, farmers were willing to consign because many will be short on feed this fall."

Fink Named Livestock Man Of Year

The 1988 Livestock Man Of The Year is James Fink, Boiling Springs, (left). Peter Krall made the presentation at the Pennsylvania Livestock Association's annual meeting.

BY EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG—An associate of the livestock industry, well-known as a master educator, was named the 1988 Livestock Man of the Year, at the Pennsylvania Livestock Association annual meeting here last Friday evening.

James Fink, Boiling Springs, retired state Vo-Ag supervisor and National FFA board member received the award for his years of dedicated service to the livestock industry.

While Fink served 12 years on the association's board of directors, he may be best known for his work in creating county-wide, student-owned Hampshire hog shows and sales in Indiana, Lawrence and Butler counties. Fink started a chain club in each county so that the best gilt in the litter was given to the next student to start his project.

Fink also wrote the education plan and got the Philadelphia

Farmers Support Revised Sample Manure Ordinance

BY PAT PURCELL

CONESTOGA (Lancaster) — The Lancaster County Farmers Association voted 16-8 to pass a resolution to support the latest draft of the sample manure ordinance. This draft is the result of several joint meetings between members of LCFA and members of the Lancaster County Conservation District, the originators of the ordinance.

This resolution aroused some debate among members at the county farmers association annual meeting held Tuesday evening at the Conestoga Fire Hall.

Several members were concerned that showing any support for the ordinance would only open the door to more government con-

Illinois Breeder Shows Top KILE Barrow

HARRISBURG — After two days of driving barrows at the 32nd annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition, hog producers from the junior and open shows gathered to hear the judge's choice for supreme champion barrow. Coming in a close second was the 243-pound Hampshire exhibited by Franklin Feeser of Taneytown, Md.

In the junior show, a brother and sister took the top two spots. Scott Hazelett of State College drove the champion, while his sister Kristen showed the reserve champion barrow.

ACRES CORN UPDATE: Corn futures settled higher today, gaining from 1/4 to 1-1/4 cents on buying fueled by bullish export news. Earlier gains were trimmed by profit taking in advance of today's report. News that the USSR bought 250,000 metric tonnes of corn opened the market higher along with firm cash basis levels. Today's crop report, termed bearish by the trade revealed increased production estimates for this year, while the ending stocks were within reason. USDA USDA PRE-REPORT ESTIMATES BILLION BUSHELS 10/1 09/01 AVERAGE RANGE CORN 4.553 4.462 4.432 4.248 - 4.60.

Corn is expected to open 2 to 5 cents lower on the opening tomorrow.

ACRES SOYBEAN UPDATE: Soybean futures fell victim to profit taking and liquidation in front of today's USDA crop production report making session lows on the close. Trading was quiet throughout the day and confined to narrow ranges. Pressure was attributed to bearish weather news from Brazil. Support came from activity in the corn soyoil and wheat pits. November closed out at $7.90-1/4 after trading to a high of $7.95 earlier in the day. The Crop report was termed bearish by floor traders and analysts and showed production up from 1.472 billion on Sept. 1 to 1.501 billion as of Oct 1st. Stocks also increased from 100 million bushels on Sept 12 to 125 million bushels on October 12. Beans are expected to open 3 to 10 cents lower tomorrow.

ACRES WHEAT UPDATE: Wheat futures closed mostly higher today gaining from 1/2 to 1-1/4 cents on the front three options. December traded up to its contract high and stalled in quiet trading. Short-covering on the close and light buying in advance of today's crop report boosted prices late on Buying interest was mixed but generally light and unaggressive. Many buyers limited purchases in light of heavy offerings and disappointing movement. Cutlets were fully adequate to ample with spot trading as low as $2.25. Whole breasts, particularly line run were burdensome. Legs and leg quarters continued to clear at lower trending prices; however, movement was generally easier at current levels. Wings were in best balance with clearances noted as good.

Take Your Seat, The Performance Is About To Begin.

You'll applaud the performance of Funk's G-Hybrids like G-4543, G-4626 and G-4446 when the curtain falls at harvest time.

A top choice for shelled grain or ear corn in 110 to 120-day maturity areas, G-4543 produces maximum yields even at lower populations. In Delaware hybrid field corn trials, it topped the field with 148.4 bu./A.

G-4626 has it all in a 115 to 120-day maturity hybrid—fast dry-down, outstanding stay-green, superior standability, excellent plant health and exceptional yields. In Delaware trials, G-4626 produced yields up to 200.9 bu./A.

G-4446 delivers superior late season standability, excellent grain quality and high test weights. A multi-purpose, widely adapted hybrid, G-4446 produced a state record 252.4 bu./A. in the 1986 Pa. Five-Acre Corn Club competition.

OPINION

Fast Or Slow, It's Good Food

Is fast food worse than eating at home, carrying a meal, or... slow food? The subject or the debate is not likely to be resolved in the near future. Once the "golden arches" mentality became family dining rather than a teen haven the subject became fair game.

According to Judy Dodd, a registered dietician with Dairy & Nutrition Council, the reasonable answer is that any food that doesn't meet certain nutritional standards is a poor choice. In today's food abundance, poor choices are available at home, in a bag lunch, and in fine restaurants. The choice is yours... the diner! Here are some facts to consider to keep your "fast food" choices healthy choices.

* Special order your burgers... skip the extra condiments and stay with the lettuce and tomato. You can control sodium (mustard, pickle and catsup) and fat (mayonnaise).

* Seek restaurants that offer broiled rather than fried fish or chicken... or remove the breading. The extra mess will save you 100-200 calories from absorbed fat.

* Order low fat milk as the beverage for a calcium boost with no caffeine!

* Choose fresh fruit for dessert! Most fast food meals are low in vitamins C and A, nutrients found in fruit.

* Choose "undressed" salads and watch the extras. Measured portions may offer less temptation than a salad bar. Use a lemon wedge, a lower calorie dressing, or choose dressing on the side to control calories, fat, and sodium.

Fast food, or slow food. Either way you can have a nutritious meal. And we have farmers to thank for working hard to give us good food.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Be Careful Around Manure Pits

This is the time of year that many liquid manure pits will be cleaned out and spread on the land; the crops have been harvested and the ground is open enough to absorb much of the liquid; this is necessary rather than to apply it on frozen ground. A pass over the field with a disc will reduce the possibility of odors a great deal.

When these pits are emptied there is a danger of poisonous gases being present. If the mixture is agitated before being moved then good ventilation must be provided above the pit. Also, never go into a pit without a gas mask or some type of respirator. Keep in mind that these gases can be explosive as well as poisonous to man and animal. Special care is needed in and around manure pits.

To Evaluate Farm Records

The 1988 cropping season is about over and soon it will be time to summarize your farm accounts and be reporting to the IRS. In addition to the need of good farm records for tax reporting purposes, I'd like to suggest these farm records be used for future farm planning and in making major farm decisions.

When time permits and as the outside work winds down this fall, it is a good idea to spend some time in your office and do some "pencil pushing" regarding the most profitable parts of your farming business. Your records of success or failure of the various enterprises are the best guide to future expansion or termination.

To Inspect Heating Systems

With colder weather upon us, we'll be using different types of heating units. In order to prevent the potential for fires and other problems, we suggest that all chimneys and flues be checked for cracks and places where sparks can escape.

In this part of the country, tobacco sheds have stoves to provide comfort for the winter job of stripping tobacco. Many of these have been in operation for years and may need some attention. The mortar around pipes and between bricks may have fallen out; in some cases a repainting job with mortar will make the system much safer.

Don't take chances with a faulty system; it could start a major barn fire or the fumes could cause suffocation.

To Enjoy The Fall Season

The fruits and seeds of a growing seasons are meaningfully expressed as seen during the fall of the year. 1988 was both productive and unproductive in field, garden and orchard crops for feed and food.

Now, the harvest season reaches a peak of activity. There is that certain urgency to get outdoor work finished as the first killing frost is behind us. However, take time to fully appreciate the world of Nature all around you. For example, no season can equal the colors of fall. See them everywhere in the foliage of shrubs, trees and vines. Farm, garden and orchard harvests are to be admired for they, too, are colorful in their own way.

Fall has in it a time and place for reflection, evaluation, satisfaction and thankfulness.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE SOURCE OF CONSOLATION

October 16, 1988

Backrgound Scripture: Isaiah 40.

Devotional Reading: Hosea 14.

Old Testament prophecy is full of moral indictments and prediction of woes to come if those prophecies are not heeded, as often they were not. But the prophets also brought messages of comfort and consolation, even after the people failed to heed them and suffered tragic consequences. That's what Isaiah 40 is all about and, in fact, all of Isaiah 40-55 is sometimes called "The Book of the Consolation of Israel."

Like the people of Israel we need both types of messages. we need warnings of judgement so that we might not fail and we also need reassurances and consolation when we have failed. We need to hear God's command to "Repent!", and we also need to hear him say: "Comfort, comfort my people, says your God. Speak tenderly to Jerusalem, and cry to her that her warfare is ended, that her iniquity is pardoned..." (40:1,2).

GOD STILL REIGNS!

But when we have truly suffered, experienced tragedy, failure, alienation, disillusionment, enmity, rejection, or persecution, how can God give us "comfort?" Isaiah told the exiled people of God that "the glory of the Lord shall be revealed" (40:5). Consolation in the midst of human depression and suffering is to be found in being reassured that, although our lives are in shambles, God still reigns. "The grass withers, the flowers fade; but the word of our God will stand forever" (40:8). When we look at ourselves and our own resources, we may dispair. But, if we look to God, we can find that our hope is in his resources, not ours.

It is a temptation to look at our own circumstances and generalize for them that life is hopeless and meaningless. But our perspective is too narrow and we can not see far enough into the universe or the future. Our views may be accurate enough as far as they go, but we must never assume that what we see is all there is. That's why Isaiah reminds us: "Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand and marked off the heavens with a span...?" (40:12). At our own personal level -- or even the level of our own community or nation -- we may find that life is coming apart and God does not seem to be prevailing. But God is not limited to those levels: "Have you not understood from the foundations of the earth? It is he who sits above the circle of the earth..." (40:21b,22a).

POWER TO THE FAINT

When I look out upon our world today, I am tempted to dispair when I see greedy people ruining our planet, despots persecuting the helpless, violence ruling the city streets, millions starving and living in filth, arrogant rulers threatening the peace and security of this world. But Isaiah reminds me that "It is he who... brings princes to nought, and makes rulers of the earth as nothing. Scarcely are that planted, scarcely sown, scarcely has their stem taken root in the earth, when he blows upon them, and they wither, and the tempest carries them off like stubble" (40:23,24).

Our comfort, our consolation is in the faith that from God we can draw the strength to endure and prevail, even when we have been exhausted and drained of all our vitality. "Even youths shall faint and be weary, and young men shall fall exhausted; but they who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings like eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint" (40:30,31).

We Put More Men In The Field Than The United States Army.

Currently, Uncle Sam keeps around 300,000 army soldiers on active duty.

Farm Credit, on the other hand, helps keep over 2 million farmers on active duty. With more loans for more farming needs than any other lending institution.

For many of you, we've been there from the beginning. With money for land, as well as your house and barn.

We help stock the farm, too. With loans for everything from cows to catfish. Seeds to saplings. Fertilizer to fencing.

And when it's time for a new tractor or pick-up, just call us to get the wheels turning.

Farming has been our only field of interest for seventy years. That's because we're farmers too. Farm Credit is owned and controlled by the same farmers who use its services.

What's more, come rain or shine, we'll stick by you in any kind of weather. And when you think about it, that's reason enough to join our ranks.

WITH PRO:LEAN PIG STARTER PLUS. It has more of everything weaned pigs need for superior health and appearance. More, in fact, than its popular predecessor Pro Lean Pig Starter Pellets

—Higher energy and quality protein in each bite for faster growth
—More milk nutrients for more weight gain per pound of feed consumed
—More vitamins and minerals, including the maximum allowable selenium level

And it's pelleted, so they eat more, gain more, waste less and use less per pound of gain For better looking pigs and profits, ask for Pig Starter Plus at your local Agway store or from your Agway Salesperson.

recent export developments. Optimism continues to keep this pit fueled as we approach the long term grain agreement talks with the Soviets. The Crop report showed wheat total wheat production at 1.812 billion bushels as of October 1st which was up from the September 1st estimate of 1.810 billion bushels. Ending stocks were reported at 528 million bushels which compared with 536 million bushels on September 12th.

ACRES CATTLE UPDATE: Live cattle and feeder cattle closed higher this afternoon on advances in live cattle attributed to late buying as December broke through its previous contract high of $74.95. Earlier strength was tied to short covering and cash connected buying in response to news of $73.00 fed cattle prices in Texas. Feeder strength was attributed spill over from live cattle with gains limited by a decline in the last cash quote and the premium to cash index price.

CME FEEDER CATTLE SETTLEMENT PRICE: 10/10/88- $81.22 dn $ .03.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - steady to firmer futures-steady.

ACRES HOG UPDATE: Live hog futures settled mostly higher this afternoon closing from 22 lower to 30 points higher. Buying late in the session was attributed to spillover from the cattle pits. Pressure throughout most of the session was linked to higher than expected interior receipts and ideas cash prices would be steady to $ .50 lower tomorrow. Prices were underpinned by steady midday values.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - steady to lower futures - steady to weak.

Eyler, Albright Takes Frederick Fair Titles

BY BETH HUBER
Maryland Correspondent

FREDERICK, MD. — On Sunday, September 18, many of Frederick County's livestock exhibitors were waiting to have animals weighed for their exhibition.

Much of the early week excitement was carried over to the day they were to be shown. After many months of preparation each of the exhibitors anxiously waited to enter the arena to compete for the ultimate position, the grand champion title of the 126th Great Frederick Fair.

Tuesday, September 20, was the initial day of livestock judging for the Great Frederick Fair. Those who stood in the baby beef spotlight for the year include Troy Eyler with his 1240-pound grand champion crossbred steer and Darryl Albright stood holding his 1300-pound Angus steer in the reserve champion position.

Breed champion titles went to Tymon Hevner of Johnsville 4-H club with the champion Shorthorn, Kirstie Hevner with the reserve champion Shorthorn. Shawn Kelly was at the halter of the 1265-pound reserve champion Angus steer. In the Hereford competition Bobby Fogle was at the halter of the grand champion with his 1175-pound steer while Mathew Bollinger showed his 1245-pound steer to the reserve champion position. Rocky Ridge 4-H club member was the recipient of the reserve champion title in the Crossbred competition with his 1220-pound steer. A total of 106 steers were exhibited this year by 82 4-H exhibitors.

The top positions in the market hog competition went to first year showman Kevin Donnally. "Good coaching," is what Kevin attributed his success to. Kevin showed his 255-pound Duroc to the winner's circle. Reserve grand champion honors went to 12-year-old Rebecca Ruby. Rebecca attributes her winning to superstition. When Rebecca's father and grandfather purchased 13 market hog projects, Rebecca's grandfather felt that 13 was an unlucky number so he went back to buy the 14th hog. It was number 14 that was Rebecca's winning hog!

In the market lamb competition Robert Dinsmore showed both the grand champion and reserve grand

Competition Stiff During KILE Merino, Corriedale Contests

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — L.D.. Cook & Sons from New London, Ohio exhibited both the champion ram and the champion ewe at the Corriedale breeding sheep competition of the Keystone International Livestock Show. However, it was a Maryland Corriedale breeder who went home with the premier breeder award.

Duron Howard of Mulhall, Okla., was the judge of the Sunday morning show in which 10 breeders competed. Howard tapped Cook's first place-yearling ram for the champion ram. Cook's first-place spring ewe made champion ewe.

Another Ohio Corriedale breeder, Nelson Wolf & Sons from Carey, earned the reserve championship with their first-place fall ram lamb.

Sarah Ann Rupert of Union Bridge, Md., halted the sweep of the Ohio breeders. Rupert's first-place yearling ewe earned her the reserve champion title. Rupert took a first place in the exhibitor's flock contest and earned the premier breeder award in the Corriedale breed.

Merinos

The grand champion Merino ram in the national show was named "Too Much" and that is probably what many of the breeders at the show thought of all the Morehouse Farm Merinos as they topped many of the classes at the 1988 National Merino Show held in conjunction with KILE on Sunday, October 9.

The Morehouse Merinos were winning all summer long through out New York taking championships in Dutchess, Ulster, and Chatham counties and in Goshen and Bridgewater counties in Connecticut and also in Sussex County, New Jersey.

The Morehouses bought all their first Merinos at the national Merino show held in Harrisburg five Morehouse Farm from Red Hook, New York dominated the 1988 National Merino Show held at the Keystone International Livestock Show at Harrisburg. Albrecht Pichler exhibited the the Merino champion ram. The Morehouse was started with Merinos purchased at the National Merino show held in Harrisburg five years ago.

The top two titles of the Corriedale competition at KILE were awarded to a ram and ewe out of the L.D. Cook & Sons flock. Cook, an Ohio native, is shown here with his champion ram.

After more than 40 years studying and working as a practical plant scientist, I still sometimes think I should have been an Ag Engineer. It would be much easier it seems to me, to explain the stresses and strains of a piece of metal, for example, than to explain the effects of light, temperature, moisture, and all of the other factors on growing forage plants. Engineers, of course, may strongly disagree on this point.

Nevertheless, I've chosen the plant sciences, and light, temperature, moisture, and other factors do impact on plant growth and quality. In today's column, let's take a brief look at the results of a study or two that point out some of these affects.

Quality - The Key

First, let's agree that profitable ruminant livestock production depends on feeding quality forage.

But, experts agree, the forages you feed can be no more nutritious than the crop you harvest. That's why it all starts back in the field with timely cutting, and, whether the crop is legume, grass, or a combination, quality is most closely related to the maturity of the plants at time of harvest. Young, immature plants are high in protein and low in fiber or lignin, but as hay matures, fiber content increases and feeding value goes down.

The above statements are certainly true. But, even when all of the harvest rules are followed, we still frequently note measurable differences in quality. Why?

Hay Crop Silage

Hay crop silage is often the forage feed where quality questions arise. While silage is an efficient method of conserving the feed value of a hay crop, hay crop silage is also one of the most inconsistent and variable foodstuffs used in cattle rations.

Kansas State University forage specialist Keith Bolsen suggests nine distinct but interdependent factors affecting silage quality. Of these, he says, moisture level is the most critical single factor. Moisture level is not a simple factor because as alfalfa matures, the moisture content that is best for good silage compaction changes -- and compaction is the key to oxygen exclusion, probably the next most critical factor. Recommended maturity at which alfalfa should be cut for silage ranges from late bud to early bloom for first cut alfalfa, and up to ¼ bloom for other cuttings. And, recent studies show that maturity affects other variables critical to the ensiling qualities of the alfalfa crop.

Changes In Carbohydrate Levels

One of those other variables is the dawn-to-dusk fluctuations in the levels of crude protein, acid detergent fiber, and non-structural carbohydrates in the alfalfa plant.

These changes have been studied from time to time over the years and most recently reported by workers in Idaho. In brief, here's what they found:

1. There was a strong tendency for the percentage of crude protein in the plant to fall during daylight hours and rise again at night.

2. Carbohydrates (energy) showed a reverse pattern as levels rose during the day and declined at night.

This, workers agree, is a normal light/dark response characteristic of green plants and has long been known to occur in alfalfa. But, what the Idaho scientists also found was that there is an apparent maturity threshhold that has a major affect on the level of carbohydrates reached and retained in the alfalfa herbage at night. These carbohydrates are the source of energy for the plants life functions, and they're probably the main source of energy for fermentation during ensiling.

In the Idaho study, the same pattern occurred for all cuttings; for example, as plants got older, carbohydrate levels in the plants increases. They noted, too, that cutting schedules the previous year also had an influence on carbohydrate levels of the first crop. For instance, levels were lower following a four-cut system as compared to a three-cut system. Both of these observations, they say, suggest that the level of underground storage carbohydrates was a key factor affecting the carbohydrate level in forage.

It appears highly likely that alfalfa cut for silage should have a maturity at which 6-7 percent water soluble carbohydrates are present. These levels could probably be attained in the morning for first cutting at early bloom following a three-cut schedule the previous year, but when alfalfa was cut four times the previous year, a late afternoon harvest would be better.

Sounds complicated doesn't it? Maybe I should have chosen another science as a profession.

Northeast DHIA Forage Lab Announces Fat Analysis Service

ITHACA, NY — As dairy farmers continue to search for ways to boost the energy density of their lactation rations, the capability to determine the fat content of feedstuffs becomes increasingly important. In order to satisfy these changing needs of dairy farmers, the Northeast DHIA Forage Analysis Laboratory has obtained an Ether Extraction Unit for fat analysis.

A recent trend in the Northeast is feeding whole cottonseed and roasted or whole soybeans to increase the energy in rations for lactating dairy cows. Fat provides over twice the energy value of carbohydrates. This additional energy can help to maintain or improve energy intake during times of depressed dry matter intake, such as in early lactation or during hot weather.

Cows that cannot meet their energy needs through their ration use body fat to sustain high milk production. This can result in weight loss and can have a negative impact on production persistency and reproductive efficiency.

Concentrates are often fed at elevated rates to meet the high energy demands of early lactation. This can lead to decreased fiber intake because the cows consume less forage when fed the additional grain. This decrease in fiber intake can cause digestive problems such as rumen acidosis. The discomfort associated with rumen acidosis can result in further decreases in feed intake and depressed butterfat test.

Fats, however, have a higher energy density than concentrates and can usually be incorporated into rations without decreasing forage intake. By feeding fats, dairy farmers can increase the energy content of early lactation rations while maintaining fiber intake.

When fed property, fat can increase milk production. Fats also aid in the blending of total mixed rations.

There are several cautions to be aware of when feeding fats. Overfeeding fat can inhibit fiber digestion in the rumen, and decrease dry matter intake. Feeding rations containing fat, especially those high in unsaturated fats, can also depress butterfat and protein tests.

It is important to know the fat content of your ration. Fat analysis of your feedstuffs is now available at the Northeast DHIA Forage Analysis Laboratory for $9.00.

For more information call the Northeast DHIA Forage Laboratory toll free at 1-800-344-2697 in New York or 1-800-255-5344 in the Northeast.

Order 2 Dairy Farmers Will Vote In Referendum

NEW YORK, NY — It was announced today that dairy farmers in the milkshed will vote on the proposed amended New York-New Jersey Federal Milk Marketing Order (Order No. 2) in a mail referendum ending at 11:59 p.m., October 27, 1988. The amended order was contained in a final decision issued on September 27, 1988 by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Dr. N.K. Garber, who was named as referendum agent, said all dairy farmers who delivered milk to pool plants and bulk tank units in April 1988 will be eligible to vote. A producer who is not a cooperative member will vote by individual ballot. A producer who is a cooperative member may vote collectively through the cooperative (if it has chosen this voting procedure) or may vote by individual ballot. Dr. Garber stated that failure to approve the amended order would result in termination of the New York-New Jersey Federal Milk Marketing Order. A two-thirds "yes" vote of those casting ballots is necessary for approval.

The amendments to Federal Order No. 2 are applicable to New York State Order No. 126 and New Jersey State Order No. 57-3. These state orders are essentially identical to the Federal order. Therefore, failure to approve the amended Federal order would also result in the termination of these state orders.

The proposed amended order would increase the maximum allowable rate of payment for expense of administration of the orders from four cents per hundredweight to five cents per hundredweight. The increased rate reflects the increase in administration costs that has occurred since the rate was last adjusted in September 1969.

The final decision and the ballots will be placed in the mail soon. Dr. Garber urges all eligible producers who are not voting collectively and who do not receive referendum material to write to the Referendum Agent at 155 East 44th Street, New York, NY 10017.

Lancaster's Fair Season Wraps Up On A Cold Day In Manheim

BY PAT PURCELL

MANHEIM (Lancaster) - It was cold day to end Lancaster County's 1988 fair season. The audience for the Manheim Fair dairy shows held October 6 shivered each time the sun slipped behind one of the many clouds in the sky and the resulting chill was a reminder that winter was not far away.

Tom Zartman of Ephrata won the Brown Swiss junior champion title with his senior calf and earned the champion showmanship award. In the Jersey breed Brian Sauder swept all but one of the championship titles. It was Robyn Groff capturing the reserve junior title which prevented a clean sweep.

In the Guernsey division a new name to the county appeared in the list of winners. The Henisee family moved here from New Jersey earlier this year. They topped the Guernsey competition at the Elizabethtown Fair. In the youth Guernsey show John Henisee won the junior championship while his brother Jason took the reserve junior title. Crystal Brubaker's junior yearling exhibited by Lowell Brubaker took the junior championship in the open Guernsey division.

Show judge Alan Hostetter went to his 4-year-old class for both of this grand and reserve grand champions belonging to Heather Henisee and Dave Henisee. Best udder in the breed went to the reserve grand champion and second place 4-year-old belonging to Dave Henisee. Angela and Elizabeth Spickler of Mount Joy dominated the Ayrshire competition.

Many familiar names appeared in the Holstein show. The family of Harold Brubaker of Manheim, his son and daugther, Lowell and Kris captured grand and reserve grand and in the open competition. Matt Kolb of Lancaster took the junior championship title and Ruby Bollinger took the reserve junior title. In the youth show Matt Kolb captured both junior and reserve junior spots in the black and white competition.

Brown Swiss junior championship of the Manheim Fair went to Tom Zartman. Manheim Fair Queen Stefhanie Brubaker presented the award.

Case IH Holds Maryland Tillage Demo

ELKTON, MD—Large Case IH tillage equipment and tractors were working here Thursday on the farm of Spry Bros. as C. B. Hoober & Son, Intercourse and Hoober Equipment Inc., Middletown DE, provided demonstrations for a large group of farmers from all three states.

Many different types of tillage equipment were working. In addition, a soil demonstration by Ivan Rieke, DMI Inc., Goodfield, IL, showed the stratified tillage layers.

"When we till with any kind of equipment we make a hard layer just under the top tillage bed," Rieke said. "The roots have trouble penetrating this hard layer."

A special tillage tool with a "winged point" was shown at the deomonstration. The point on this equipment penetrates the hard layer and the wings give the soil a vertical flip. The soil around the tip is relocated to provide a place for water to get down through the hard layer. But between the points, the soil is not relocated to provide a firm base for the heavy harvesting equipment.

"Frost will mellow out surface compaction, but frost will not relocate the soil compaction," Rieke said. "So this equipment helps prepare the ground so the frost can do it's work."

Ivan Rieke,(center) shows interested persons the results of different types of tillage equipment.

years ago. The results of good breeding are evident in the exceptionally fine wool, good size and proper development in the sheep. The Morehouses have imported two rams into their herd from Austrailia. These two Superfine Merino rams produce wool of superb quality, according to Margrit Morehouse and they are anticipating wool quality in their flock from these imports.

Morehouse Farm earned the champion ram title, reserve champion ram and the champion ewe honors. Joan Hess & Sons from Cable, Ohio, exhibited the reserve champion ewe.

30 YEARS AGO
THIS WEEK

-Victor Plastow, Lancaster County 4-H director, has announced that plans for a Thanksgiving trip of five carloads of county 4-H'ers to Plano, Ill., are rapidly taking shape.

The trip will be in the way of a return visit with Illinois 4-Her's from the Plano region who spent a week in Garden Spot 4-H'ers homes during the summer.

-More than 200 Lancaster County 4-H Dairy Club members, parents, officials and guests are expected to attend the annual Dairy Banquet at 6:45 p.m. Oct. 24, in the Strasburg Fire Hall.

Banquet festivities will be highlighted by presentations of 12 trophies, a pair of $25 cash awards, four plaques and lesser awards to honor outstanding efforts in 4-H dairy work.

E. H. "Buck" Haller, formerly station auditor for the USDA Market Service of the Livestock Division, Packer and Stockyards branch, at East St. Louis, Ill., has been named as station and division auditor for the Lancaster Stockyards.

He is the first permanent auditor assigned to the 11-state northeast district. His duties include auditing the records of all firms and dealers engaged in the livestock business in interstate commerce in this district.

-A young dairy farmer from Pennsylvania who has developed Holstein cows with outstanding production records has been chosen as one of the four recipients of the nation's most coveted farm youth awards.

He is James H. Speer, Jr., 21, of Blairs Mills, Huntingdon County, who has been chosen by the Future Farmers of America as Star American Farmer of the North Atlantic Region. Word of the distinction won by young Speer was received here by James C. Fink, acting State FFA advisor, from Kansas City where the designation of the Pennsylvania boy was announced at the Tuesday evening session of the 31st annual FFA National Convnetion in colorful ceremonies during which Speer received a $500 check from the Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc.

-Entries for sheep, swine, beef and dairy cattle and most poultry to be displayed at the 1959 Farm Show must be received by Nov. 17, the State Farm Show Commission announced today.

Bicksler Scholarship Established

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — The children of Kay Bicksler and her late husband, Homer, of Palmyra have established a scholarship with a pledge of $15,000 in Penn State's College of Agriculture in honor of their parents.

Bicksler graduated from the College of Agriculture in 1938 with a degree in poultry science and a teaching certificate in vocational agriculture. He worked for farm supply companies and as a coordinator in the Lebanon Valley Vo-Tech School before retiring eight years ago.

The scholarship is supported by the Bicksler's' children: Sue Taub of Briarcliff Manor, N.Y.; Ann McFadden of Palmyra; James Bicksler of Princeton, N.J.; Barbara Frame of Wexford, Pa.; and Robert Bicksler of Cockeysville, Md., All are graduates of Penn State.

Each year the endowment will provide a scholarship for one student in Penn State's College of Agriculture who has financial need, who has a history of community activity at the university and who has maintained an academic standing that shows promise. First preference will be given to juniors and seniors.

Bicksler was a member of the Penn State Alumni Association, the College of Agriculture Alumni Association, the honorary agricultural society Gamma Delta Sigma and Delta Theta Sigma fraternity. In 1952 he co-chaired a committee that raised more than $40,000 for the Penn State Poultry Disease Laboratory.

Mr. Bicksler was a leader in the 4-H Puppy Pals and was involved in Boy Scouts for 25 years. He was also an active Lion Club member and served as president of the Lebanon County Leader Dog Program. In addition, he was treasurer of the Lebanon County Penn State Alumni Club, treasurer of the Lebanon County Beekeepers Association and vice president of the Palmyra Borough Council.

Mrs. Bicksler is a member and past president of the Palmyra Woman's Club and of the Women's Guild at the Trinity U.C.C. Church.

controlled environment is the reason.

Raising hogs isn't just a business . . . it's a science! In swine complexes like the one pictured above, thousands of gilts are introduced to the breeding process and closely monitored throughout gestation. Their young are cross fostered to insure a higher rate of survival, then registered by computer, so as to provide day by day progress reports for the highly specialized staff that operates the complex.

The amount of heat, humidity, water, and rations each hog receives has been carefully calculated and researched. Now, sturdy, well built equipment specially designed to meet these strict requirements carries the proper amounts of air, water, and nutrients to each hog.

The result is more hogs actually going from finisher to market . . . and that means profit!

If you want to raise hogs and make a profit, you need Hershey Equipment Company. Hershey researches, designs, manufacturers, and builds swine systems. Hershey even operates its own system profitably! Get the benefit of experience . . . Call Hershey Equipment Company today!

Dairies Recognized

SYRACUSE, NY — Eighty-four dairy farms from New York State were recently recognized for their efforts at maintaining a high quality farm appearance. As winners in the Northeast Farm Beautification Program, they have received the coveted 'Dairy of Distinction' award.

The program was established in New York State in 1983, in an effort to convey a quality dairy product image to consumers. Presently, Dairies of Distinction are being recognized in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, as the program continues to grow.

Attached is a list of all 1988 Dairy of Distinction winners in the state of New York.

Farms that apply are judged on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds and surroundings. The 18x24 inch multi-colored Dairy of Distinction signs are placed on the roadside in front of the award winning farms. Winning entries are judged annually to ensure that they continue to meet the standards of excellence set by the program.

For further information on the Dairy of Distinction program, contact the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council at (717) 323-2552.

Farmers Support

trol over farmers and more binding red tape.

The sample manure ordinance originated with the county conservation district to protect ground water from contamination resulting from manure handling and has been sent to all 41 township supervisory boards to be used as guidelines.

Under this ordinance farmers would be required to obtain a permit to increase the number of livestock or to change the type of livestock on their operation. The permit could be denied by the township supervisors, if the additional manure could not be disposed of safely on existing land.

The permit would be necessary only to expand or change the farming operation and seasonal increases would be allowed. This would not affect existing operators unless they are caught polluting as determined by DER standards.

"The first draft of the ordinance we received was very open ended. We could see farmers getting a lot of problems with that," said Jim Hess, vice-president of Lancaster County Farmers' Association. "We were not pleased with it and we could see it getting used in the wrong way. If any of you are out there worrying about farmland preservation, this (the original draft) was what was going to run farmers off their land. We hope we now have something (the latest draft) that farmers can live with," said Hess.

According to Hess, the original version required a permit for a one percent increase in livestock. The latest draft which was finalized at the meeting held October 6 was unavailable Tuesday night for members' review. However, this revised allowed farmers to increase livestock numbers by ten percent before a permit was needed.

According to Gordon Hoover, LCFA President, the final draft will be prepared and reviewed again by both members of the farmers' association and county conservation district within in the next few weeks and will be sent to the townships by mid-November. Copies have been sent twice to all of the county's 41 townshisp board of supervisors since June of this year. Several townships are already working towards adopting the ordinance, including Warwick which is close to making a decision, according to Hess.

Donald Ranck, a fomer LCFA president and Paradise Township farmer who is also a member of that township's zoning hearing board, suggested delaying the vote on the resolution until copies of the final draft were made available to association members.

Ranck proposed a substitute resolution which recommended the association handle manure management problems case by case as they arise and to educate both farmers and non-farmers on proper manure managment practices. After some debate Ranck's proposal was put into a resolution and narrowly passed by a vote of 11-10.

"This is not the crisis it's being made out to be and we are being backed into a corner," said Ranck. "Why not go after the person who is polluting instead of using a blanket policy."

Several townships are asking for the ordinance and may have passed the original draft months ago if the association had not gotten involved, according to Hess.

"If we had not stepped in, the first draft would have been passed in Warwick township three months ago," said Hess.

In a telephone interview on Wednesday, Hoover explained that resolutions adopted by members are used as guidelines by the association's board to form policies.

"I think most people can see the logic behind the ordinance and I feel the association's support of it tells the public that we as farmers are interested in water quality and are willing to do our part. Also, we now have the opportunity to tailor the way we would like to see it and I think we should do that," said Hoover.

"I think it's imperative that local farmers get involved with their township government," Hoover added.

Hoover said he agreed with Ranck that the manure management issue is not a crisis, but it is a problem.

"There is no reason to rush into this thing. We must be careful to take our time and to do it right the first time and not create problems for farmers," explained Hoover.

Lancaster County Farmers' Association has the largest membership in the state with nearly 1,100 on its roll. However, out of 80 people attending the meeting only 27 were able to vote. Hoover said although there was a small percentage of the total membership voting he felt the vote was representative of all the members.

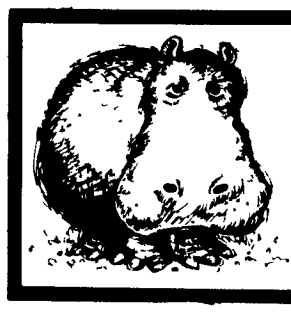
Lancaster 4-H Club Recognizes 652 Volunteers

LANCASTER — For 35 years, Lester M. Weaver, New Holland, and Milton Brubaker, Lititz, served as county 4-H leaders. On Thursday night, the local 4-H program honored them for their dedication.

The 74-year-old Weaver spent many hours leading the New Holland 4-H Beef Club. Over the years, Weaver has had the pleasure of seeing six of his own children, several grandchildren, and many of his youth members show champion steers.

At the dinner held at Yoder's Steak House in New Holland, 652 4-H leaders who volunteer their time to instruct 3,997 youths in the county were also recognized.

For her achievement, Stacey Goss, Lancaster County's 1989 Outstanding 4-H'er , received a plaque from Darvin Boyd, vice president of Hamilton Bank. In appreciation for assisting 4-H'ers in their chicken embryology projects, AgriGeneral of Lititz received this year's 4-H Community Support Award.



GIGANTIC SELECTION IN Lancaster Farming's CLASSIFIEDS

Chore-Time's ULTRAFLO® feeder can free you from your chains

We have probably been too modest up to now about the merits of our new generation ULTRAFLO® cage feeder vs. the old style chain feeders some of our competitors are still trying to sell you. In fact, the only negative comments about our feeder come from our competition, not our customers. So we would like to point out the bare facts:

FEED SAVINGS: On-farm results show a feed savings of ½ lb. per 100 birds per day – over $10,000 per year savings on a 100,000-bird house. Year after year.

TROUBLE-FREE DESIGN: Our feeder has only two moving parts – the one-piece auger plus each drive wheel; their chain has more. Our corners are heavy 12 ga. zinc plated tubing for long life; their corners have a reputation for trouble and short life

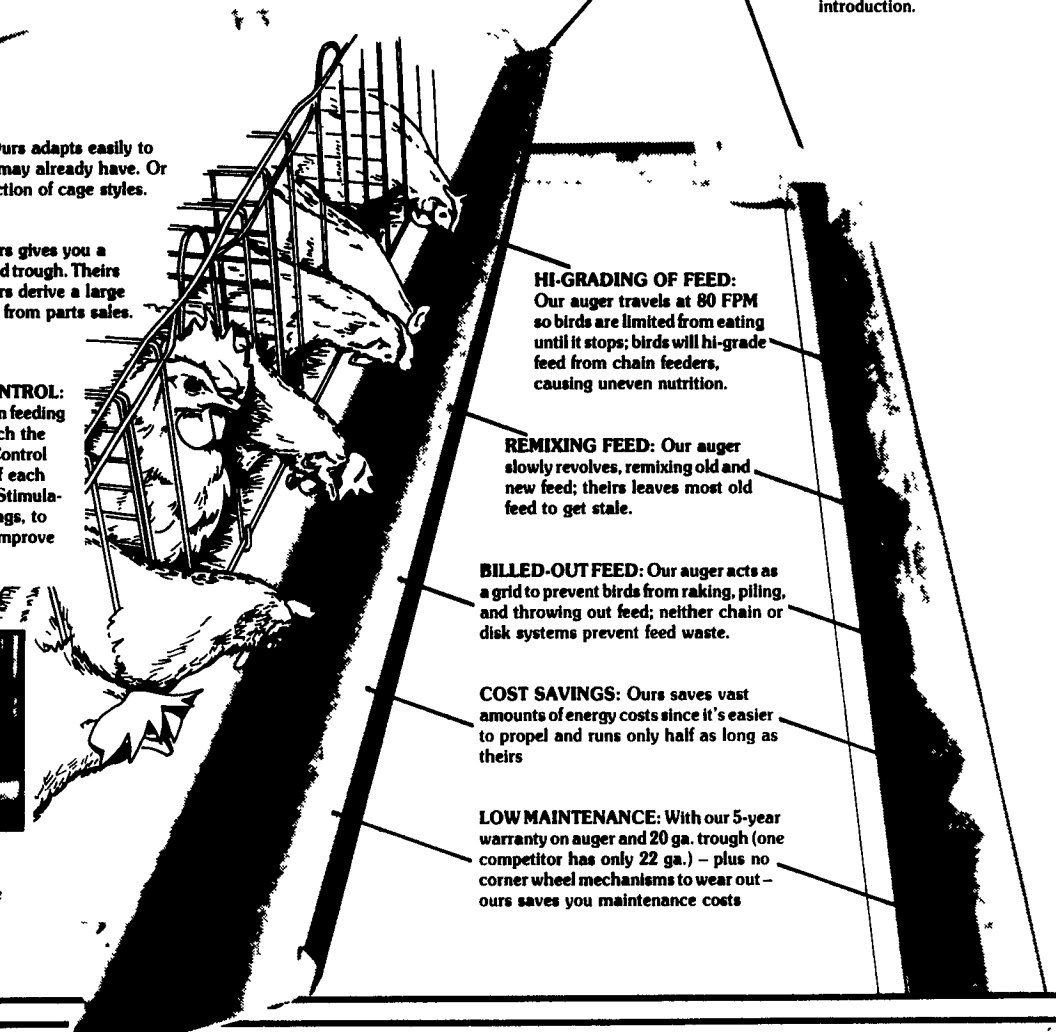
PROVEN DESIGN: Over 10 million birds are already on our feeder worldwide. Also, it was proven in 5 years of on-farm testing before introduction.

EASY ADAPTABILITY: Ours adapts easily to existing cage systems you may already have. Or choose from our wide selection of cage styles.

5-YEAR WARRANTY: Ours gives you a 5-year warranty on auger and trough. Theirs doesn't. In fact, their dealers derive a large percentage of their income from parts sales. Ours don't.

MICROPROCESSOR CONTROL: Our control lets you program feeding time to the second, to match the exact time of one circuit. Control number of feedings, time of each feeding – also 10-second "Stimulation Cycles" between feedings, to minimize separation, and improve your birds' feed intake.

SIMPLE OPERATION: "Push-pull" Power Units with ⅓ or ½ HP motor are located in a cage, have hardened steel gears for trouble-free operation.



HI-GRADING OF FEED: Our auger travels at 80 FPM so birds are limited from eating until it stops; birds will hi-grade feed from chain feeders, causing uneven nutrition.

REMIXING FEED: Our auger slowly revolves, remixing old and new feed; theirs leaves most old feed to get stale.

BILLED-OUT FEED: Our auger acts as a grid to prevent birds from raking, piling, and throwing out feed; neither chain or disk systems prevent feed waste.

COST SAVINGS: Ours saves vast amounts of energy costs since it's easier to propel and runs only half as long as theirs

LOW MAINTENANCE: With our 5-year warranty on auger and 20 ga. trough (one competitor has only 22 ga.) – plus no corner wheel mechanisms to wear out – ours saves you maintenance costs

Commodity Certificates have been a source of much discussion among farmers and tax preparers in recent months. The questions being asked relate to when the certificate value must be reported as income and how much should be reported. Correct answers to those questions depend on how the commodity certificates are used and the farm operator's prior action with respect to Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) loans.

When a farm operator receives the first loan from the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) he or she has a choice of (1) treating the loan as income in the year received or (2) treating the loan as any other loan -- that is, not reporting income because the obligation to repay equals the amount received. If the second option is selected and if the crop is redeemed and the loan repaid, subsequent sale of the crop should be reported as income.

If the first option is selected and the loan is treated as income, the farm operator has elected a "Section 77." Section 77 is the part of the Internal Revenue Code that relates to the the tax treatment of Commodity Loans. If such an election is made, then all subsequent CCC loans must be reported as income in the year received unless the Commissioner of Revenue gives permission to withdraw the election.

Beginning in 1986, a portion of the farm program deficiency and set aside payments were made to farmers in the form of Commodity Certificates rather than cash. Commodity certificates can be sold on the open market, exchanged for cash at county ASCS offices, or used to redeem grain from the Commodity Credit Corporation that is held as security under the 9-month loan or a 3-year reserved arrangement.

As a result of the formula used by county ASCS offices, it is profitable in some instances and during some periods of time for the farmer to pay off (redeem) a CCC loan with commodity certificates. This is the so-called "PIK and Roll procedure." Generally, what occurs is the following:

1. The farmer applies for and receives a CCC loan on the crop. 2. Using purchased commodity certificates and/or issued certificates, the farmer redeems his or her grain from the CCC by repaying the loan with the commodity certificates instead of cash. 3. Based on his or her normal marketing patterns, the farmer then sells the redeemed grain.

The income tax consequences of the "PIK and Roll" relate to the option selected by the farm operator for reporting income from CCC loans. If a farmer has not elected the Internal Revenue Code Section 77 (does not treat the CCC loan as income in the year the loan is received), the following tax consequences result from receipt of a CCC loan, receipt of a commodity certificate and use of the certificate to pay off the loan.

1. Receipt of the loan is not reported as income. 2. Receipt of a commodity certificate is reported as income. This establishes a tax basis in the certificate equal to the amount of income reported. 3. The difference between the tax basis in the certificate and the loan amount is reported as income when the certificate is used to pay off the loan. 4. The farmer's tax basis in the redeemed grain is zero. Therefore, a subsequent sale of the grain will result in gross income equal to the sale price. Feeding the grain will result in no deduction.

Example 1: A farmer sealed the 1987 corn crop and received a CCC loan of $12,000. The farmer is a cash-basis taxpayer and has not elected to report CCC loans as income. In 1987, the farmer also received commodity certificates with a face value of $10,000. Under the PIK and roll rules, the farmer used the certificates to pay off the loan and still had the corn at the end of 1987.

The tax consequences are as follow. The $12,000 loan is not income. Receipt of the certificates result in $10,000 of income. Use of the certificate to pay off the loan results in another $2,000 of income. The farmer then has a zero basis in the corn. When the corn is sold, the amount received will be reported as gross income.

If a farmer has elected the Internal Revenue Code Section 77 and reports CCC loans as income in the year the loan is received, the following tax consequences result from receipt of a CCC loan, receipt of a commodity certificate and use of the certificate to pay off the loan.

1. Receipt of the CCC loan is reported as income and the farmer has a basis in the commodity equal to the amount of the loan. 2. Receipt of a commodity certificate is reported as income (the face value of the certificate is reported as income). 3. The difference between basis in the certificate and the loan amount is used to reduce the basis in the commodity. Therefore, a subsequent sale of the commodity will result in a gain or loss measured by the difference between the basis in the commodity and the sale price. Use of the commodity as feed will result in a deduction equal to the basis in the commodity.

Example 2: Assume the same facts as in the first Example above, except that the farmer has elected the Internal Revenue Code Section 77 to report CCC loans as income in the year received. In this case, the "PIK and Roll" procedure has the following tax consequences.

Upon receipt of the CCC loan, the farmer must report $12,000 of income. This results in a $12,000 tax basis in the corn. Receipt of the certificate results in another $10,000 of income. Use of the certificate to pay off the loan requires the farmer to reduce the basis in the corn by $2,000 to $10,000.

If the corn is used for feed on the farm, the farmer can deduct the $10,000 basis. If the corn is sold, the gain or loss will be calculated using this $10,000 basis.

Strengthen Dairy Herd Through Management

Dairy replacements essentially make up the very foundation of a dairy enterprise. Improvement of a herd is possible when culled cows are replaced by well fed, healthy, genetically superior and properly managed replacements. An excellent way to improve herd production is to mate cows to the best bulls available and then to feed and manage replacement heifers so they can express their true potential.

Replacement Needs

Dairymen face two major problems when it comes to meeting yearly replacement needs. One of these is calf losses and the other is meeting the high demand of herd turnover.

Annual calf losses in some herds run as high as 30%. Under good management, calf losses should not be more than 5%. Herd turnover, either voluntary or involuntary, ranges from 25 to 35% in most PA herds. This means replacing 25 to 35 cows out of every 100 each year. To be able to do this, calf losses must be kept low. High calf losses allow you little or no selection of replacements and very little culling pressure other than involuntary culling can be placed on the herd.

The Calving Environment

Ten days prior to calving, separate any cows that are to calve from the other animals in your dry cow group. A well drained paddock or small pasture lot with available shade makes a good place for cows to freshen in spring, summer and early autumn. In late autumn and winter use a clean, roomy, well-bedded maternity stall. A maternity stall should provide about 150 to 200 square feet of space for large cows. Large square pens allow the cows more freedom of movement and allow dairymen area in the pen if assistance is necessary. An important point to mention is that maternity stalls must be cleaned and disinfected between calvings to keep any disease in check. Cows should not be allowed to calve in stanchions, free stalls, tie stalls or group loose housing areas, if it can be avoided.

At calving time, cows need plenty of room and some good footing as well as clean dry bedding. Sawdust is not recommended to be used as bedding in maternity areas. Research has shown that sawdust bedding increases the mortality rate of calves and increases the incidence of mastitis in dairy cows. Sawdust adheres to the mouth of calves and may carry pathogenic organisms to the digestive tracts of the calves.

Calving Time

Whenever possible, someone should be present at the time calving or shortly thereafter. Either the cow or the calf may need assistance. Usually immediately after birth, the cow will lick the calf. This aids in drying the calf and stimulates circulation and breathing. If the cow does not lick the calf dry upon delivery, rub the calf briskly with a dry towel. Sometimes artificial respiration is needed to initiate breathing. You should also see that the calf's nostrils are clear of mucus to facilitate breathing. Paint the calf's navel with a 2% tincture of iodine solution or some other suitable disinfectant to prevent any infection at this time. Since these umbilical vessels connect directly to various organs in the body, infection at this site can be very harmful to the newborn.

It is also very critical that calves receive colostrum as soon as possible after birth, preferably within four hours after being born. Most healthy calves are on their feet within 30 minutes and nursing within an hour. Before the calf is allowed to nurse its mother, the cow's teats and udder should be washed and sanitized with a solution containing 200 parts per million of chlorine, or another approved sanitizing solution, to decrease the amount of disease transferred to the calf through the digestive tract.

In extremely cold weather, it may be necessary to use blankets or a heat lamp to keep the calf warm.

Remember, good calf management begins with plenty of preparation before the calf is born and must be a continual ongoing process on all dairy farms.

L.J. Hutchinson

Pasture Supplementation

Too often dairymen either oversupplement or undersupplement cows on pasture. When young, actively growing pasture is available in good supply, milk cows often may perform well on a grain to milk ratio of 1:4 to 1:6. Use of hay or silage on good pasture generally should not exceed 12 to 14% crude protein. When pasture is over-mature or scant in supply, the feeding of stored forage may need to approach 70 to 100% of barn-season levels. In addition, narrower grain to milk ratios of 1:2½ to 1:3 may be needed. The grain mix may need protein and mineral levels that approach those on all stored forage, depending on the type of pasture and intakes of stored forage of various kinds. Use of well-balanced rations are just as important on pasture feeding as any other time of the year. Take a good look at your pastures for cows and young stock several times weekly. Move the animals to fresh pasture as needed and/or adjust your feeding to pasture conditions. Clip and chain harrow pastures as necessary to keep them in an actively-growing state and prevent wastage around manured spots. Make certain cows have shade and water available on pasture.

Galvinized Steel Components Now Offered On Badger Equipment

KAUKAUNA, WI — Galvanized steel components, designed for better weather and corrosion resistance, are now available from Badger Northland Inc., the Kaukauna, Wisconsin-based manufacturer of farm materials handling equipment.

The new galvanized-steel components, including frames and pans, now are available on Badger's BN41 9-inch and BN70 11-inch Single Chain Conveyors, as well as on the high capacity, energy efficient Pow-R-Trac and Pow-R-Glide Feeders. According to a Badger spokesman, all painted steel troughs, etc., on Badger feeders and conveyors will eventually be replaced by the more durable galvanized steel.

Galvanized steel resists the effects of feed acid and related corrosion better than ordinary, painted steel. It also retains its new appearance longer and resists scratches or chips better than painted surfaces. And the addition of the new components will make any size operation more economical, requiring fewer repairs and replacements over the life of the equipment.

Badger Northland is a leader in the innovation and design of farm materials handling equipment. The company manufactures and markets a complete line of forage, feed and manure handling equipment through dealers in the United States and Canada, as well as overseas exports.

For further information contact: Badger Northland, Inc., P.O. Box 1215, Kaukauna, WI 54130-7015 or call (414) 766-4603.

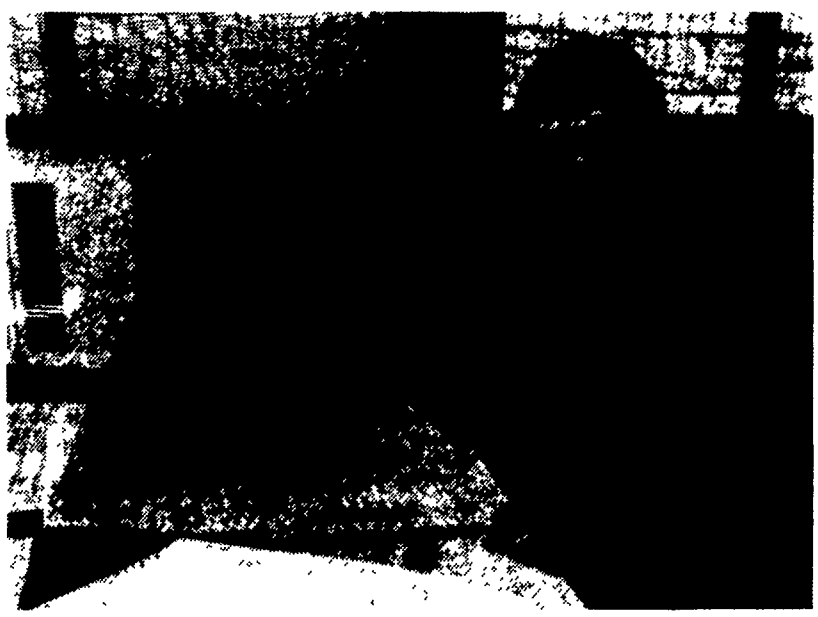
HERE COME NEW DOEBLER HYBRIDS FOR 1989

By Bill Camerer



I'm Bill Camerer, Doebler research director.

I don't want to sound like a carnie barker but it's hard not to get excited about the eight new Doebler hybrids going on sale this month.

Five new XPs and a trio of three ways to help rebuild 1989 feed stocks.

Like the most impressive 35XP, an 83-day single cross that already dominates its maturity range after outshelling 30X-A, 370A and 48XE.

And the very healthy 54XP that whomped Pioneer 3737 by 17 bushels in recent side by side comparisons.

And let's not ignore the flashy 505-3 WAY that replaces 440-3 WAY and is giving 48XE and 48X a battle in the bushel department.

Why this sudden flood of Extra Performance and three-way hybrids this fall?

In my mind, credit must go to the rapid expansion of Doebler research plots. This past year we were able to test and evaluate over 1400 new hybrids at 21 locations right here in the East. We also put out over 200 grain and silage strip tests.

And more tests mean quicker turnaround from the plant breeder's nursery to your seed bag.

So read the good news.

How we score new Doebler XPs

Seed supply rates from good to fair on the four new XPs below. A fifth one, 45XP, is big on performance but supply is extremely limited for 1989.

84XP, 118 days. Superior standup, yield and disease credentials. Big ears and big tonnage. Excellent drought rating. A silage winner.

63XP, 99 days. A bit shorter, greener and earlier than 65X but look at the firepower — 171.8 bu. in 32 tests. Or 4.9 bu. better than big sister's 166.9.

54XP, 95 days. This super single starts quick and stays green. Outslugs 48XE by 9 bu. and with less lodging. Use as early corn in full season areas.

35XP, 83 days. This extra pizzazz hybrid pushing 30XA out the door with 20 more bu., less moisture and half the down corn. Healthy. Great roots.

My pick of the new three-ways

Hundreds of three-ways are run through the obstacle course annually. Only these three made it for 1989. All in good supply.

944-3 WAY, 125 days. That's no misprint either. Big ears. Rank growth. Shrugs off leaf disease. Should put more tons in your silo than any Doebler hybrid.

505-3 WAY, 92 days. Modified single cross with big shelling ability. Produced 3.9 bushels more than 48XE and matched 48X bushel for bushel. Great stalks.

240-3 WAY, 78 days. Another modified single with three-way price. Against 250A-3 it popped 17.5 bu. more, .7% dryer and stood as well. Medium height.

NFO Calls For Marketing Strategy On Cull Cows

CORNING, IA— "A structured marketing of cull cows is necessary," National Farmers Organization President DeVon Woodland declared today as he announced the organization's plan to stabilize cow prices for fall delivery.

Historically, Woodland pointed out, the industry has seen increased cull cow numbers coming to market in the fall of the year from Western cow-calf producers culling open and older cows and dairy farmers culling cows to make room in their barns for winter.

"Even though more culling was done this summer than normal because of drought conditions, we could realistically see the market decline this fall due to heavy culling," the farm leader indicated. Heavy culling may occur for seasonal reasons, because of increased feed costs caused by drought-shortened feed stocks, and because of lower conception rates caused by hotter-than-normal temperatures.

"This increase in cows has, in the past, needlessly depressed the cow market," the NFO president explained, "because these cows were dumped on the market rather than being marketed in a disciplined inventory control program such as that being developed by the National Farmers Organization."

For the first time in cow marketing history, the National Farmers Organization has presold cows to the packing industry to be delivered within the fourth quarter of 1988.

"By establishing a guaranteed delivery price well in advance of the physical delivery, we have established a base price; and by accepting additional cows into this presold inventory, we think stability will be provided to what would otherwise be a volatile, unstable market condition," Woodland emphasized. "This is absolutely necessary if we are to stabilize cow prices."

This new concept of cow marketing, he concluded, has been met with favor by most packing industry officials. Their comments indicate a preference for the security of volume that these contracts provide.

USDA To Reconvene On Federal Milk Order

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced that the public hearing to amend the New England, New York-New Jersey, and Middle Atlantic federal milk marketing orders that recessed July 21 in Syracuse, N.Y., will reconvene Nov. 14 at 1:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, Independence Hall, 400 Arch St. (4th & Arch), Philadelphia, Pa.

J. Patrick Boyle, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said that the agenda includes topics not addressed at the initial meetings, which began on June 27 in Syracuse, and followed with sessions in Manchester, N.H., July 11-14. Added to the agenda are proposals to require handlers, i.e., federally regulated milk dealers, to pay producers for milk three times a month. Currently, milk producers in the New York order area receive payment once a month, and those in the Middle Atlantic order area are paid twice monthly. The proponent, the National Farmers Organization (NFO), claims more frequent payments are necessary to reduce the consequences to producers of a handler's going bankrupt.

Because the department concluded that the NFO proposals for more frequent payment lacked wide producer support, the proposal was not on the first agenda. An order the NFO obtained, however, from the Federal District Court in the District of Columbia requires that the proposals be considered further at a hearing, Boyle said. The earlier agenda was summarized in a press release of June 8, with the detailed proposals appearing in the June 10 Federal Register.

The payment proposals included in the original hearing notice also will be considered at the November meeting.

A notice of the reconvening of the hearing will appear as a "Supplementary Notice of Hearing" in the October 4 Federal Register. Copies may be obtained from Joseph D. Shine, market administrator, P.O. Box 25828, Alexandria, Va. 22314; Herbert E. Shepard, market administrator, P.O. Box 1478, Boston, Mass. 02205; Thomas A. Wilson, market administrator, 708 Third Avenue, 6th Floor, N.Y., N.Y. 10017-4141, or from USDA, AMS, Dairy Division, Order Formulation Branch, Rm. 2968-S, P.O. McCarty Re-Elected President Of EMPC

SYRACUSE, NY — Dairy farmers R. LaVerne McCarty of Forksville, Pa., has been re-elected president of the board of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative for a second one-year term.

An Eastern member for 31 years, McCarty as first elected to the board of directors in 1981. He served as vice president for two years. McCarty and his wife, Dora, operate a 350-acre farm with their sons, Tracy and Brian. They milk 88 Holsteins out of a herd of 160.

As president, McCarty represents some 3,400 farmers in nine states. As a member of the board, he also represents more than 250 farmers in a district that includes Sullivan and East Bradford counties in Pennsylvania and parts of Chemung and Tioga counties in New York.

McCarty was elected at the board's reorganizational meeting, which followed the Eastern Milk Annual Meeting held Oct. 4-5 in Syracuse, N.Y. Also elected were:

- Lewis Gardner of Galeton, Pa., vice president.
- C. Lee Greenwalt of Lawrenceville, Pa., secretary.
- George J. Hadda of Bainbridge, N.Y., treasurer.
- Edwin Schoen of Phelps, N.Y., assistant secretary-treasurer.

Vice President Gardner and his wife, Lois, operate a 100-acre farm, milking 50 cows out of a herd of 75 Holsteins. They have three sons who help on the farm. Gardner joined Eastern four years ago, and has been active in Eastern's Galeton Local, serving as president of the Local for two years and as a delegate for one year. He was elected to Eastern's board of directors last December to serve out the unexpired term of the late George Fuller of Cohocton, N.Y. Gardner was recently re-elected to the board for his first full three-year term. He represents some 200 farmers in a district that straddles the western portions of New York and Pennsylvania.

Secretary Greenwalt was re-elected to the post after serving out the unexpired term of Charles Freligh of Cayuga, N.Y., who died last May. Greenwalt was born and raised on the farm which he and his wife, Bertha, operate in partnership with their son, Kevin. The 256-acre, 110-cow dairy is located in the Northeast corner of Tioga County, Pa., about a mile from the New York State line. First elected to the board in 1981, Greenwalt represents nearly 250 farmers in a district that includes parts of Tioga, Bradford, Lycoming and Sullivan counties in Pennsylvania and slices of Steuben and Chemung counties in New York. A member of Eastern for 37 years, Greenwalt was a long-time officer of the Tioga Local prior to his election to the board.

Haddad is beginning his fourth term as treasurer. He and wife, Shirley, operate a 340-acre, 75-cow Holstein dairy farm. They have five children. Haddad is a member of the Bainbridge Local, where he served as a delegate for three years and as vice president for two years before being elected to the board of directors in 1980. As a director, he represents over 200 farmers in parts of Chenango, Cortland, Madison, Otsego, Delaware and Broome counties. Haddad also is treasurer of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council headquartered in Syracuse, N.Y.

Assistant Secretary-Treasurer Schoen is a relatively new member of the board who was elected to serve out the remaining months of a seat held by the late Charles Freligh. He was just re-elected to the board for his first full three-year term. As a director he represents about 25 farmers in parts of the Finger Lakes region and Central New York. A member of Eastern since 1970, Schoen began farming in 1965 after getting an associate's degree from Cornell. In 1982 he became partners with John Stephan, also of Phelps, and since then the farm has grown from 76 to 400 acres. They milk 85 Holstein cows. Schoen has been active in Eastern's Rose City Local, serving as secretary-treasurer for four years and as president for six. Schoen and his wife, Jean, have three daughters.

Headquartered in Syracuse, N.Y., Eastern Milk Producers is a dairy cooperative with some 3,400 member-farmers in nine states. Those member-farmers own two cheese plants in New York's Southern Tier, which are leased to Leprino Foods, a leading manufacturer of mozzarella cheese. The co-op also has a New England office in Montpelier, Vt.; a balancing plant in Grover, Pa.; testing laboratories in South Waverly, Pa., and Sunbury, Pa.; and milk receiving stations at Dover, Del., Sunbury, Pa., and Hinesburg, Vt.

school board involved in the Walter Biddle Saul High School. Even today, this high school in the city has the largest FFA Chapter in the state because every student in the vo-tech school is a member of FFA.

Fink served 23 years as Pennsylvania's top FFA advisor and helped to operate the Pittsburgh Livestock Show at Herr's Island stockyard for 15 years.

In the state livestock association, Fink served as treasurer and is credited with the preparation of the PLA's non-profit corporation papers. He also instituted refined auditing procedures. He served on PLA's meat marketing committee and was chairman of the education and research committee. Fink is active in the PSU Alumni Association of the greater Harrisburg area, the American Legion and the Presbyterian church.

The association also honored four outstanding livestock youth. Faye Krevel, Clearfield County and Greg Wilson, Fayette County were named the outstanding 4-H youth. Kay Fessler, Berks County and Lewis Hilberc, Adams County were named the outstanding FFA youth.

Krevel attends Harmony Area High School where she is a senior and plans to attend Northeastern Junior Christian College to major in horticulture. She was named the outstanding 4-H girl in Clearfield County and has shown steers, lambs and hogs to championships in county fairs.

Wilson is presently attending California University of Pennsylvania, majoring in math and computer science. He has been a 4-H livestock member for four years and showed the grand champion lamb, the grand champion steer and the reserve grand champion hog at the Fayette County Fair. He has also been a counselor at district 4-H camp and has been honored as the 4-H King, Outstanding 4-Her and is a Keystone Award Winner.

Fessler is currently attending Bloomsburg University to obtain a B.S. in nursing. She is a graduate of Conrad Weiser High School where she served as treasurer, reporter and president of the school's FFA chapter. She received the state proficiency award in market and breeding hogs. Fessler has been active in FFA for four years.

Hilbert is currently president of the Littlestown FFA chapter. He has also held offices of reporter and vice president. He is a member of the Adams County Beef Producers Assn., Pennsylvania Polled Hereford Assn., Maryland Polled Hereford Assn., and the South Central Pork Producers Assn. His future plans call for enrollment at PSU in an agriculture major and later to have his own farming enterprise.

In the president's report for the association, Thomas Calvert urged the association members to move forward to meet the challenges of a changing livestock industry. "While we must make some changes," Calvert said, "we have room for the kind of livestock we have in Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania has the resources. The future is bright," Calvert said.

Boyd Wolff, state ag secretary, reported that visitors from New Zealand were impressed with the potential for grassland farming in the United States. Robert Coleman introduced Dave Irvin, the new executive director of the Pennsylvania Beef Council.

Newly elected directors are: John Comerford, Mylin Messick, Ronald Miller, Thomas McIlwain and Gordon Shive.

Returning directors are: Harry Bachman, Allan Comman, Henry Gruber, Dennise Grumbine, Peter Krall, Thomas Calvert, Myron Ritter and Herbert Shick.

The association brings together all segments of the livestock industry.

Ag Funding Increases With Passage Of State Budget

the Brucellosis vaccination, which the Governor completely cut;

* An additional $40 million for agriculture promotion;

* Restoration of $3.4 million for county fairs, which the Governor had completely cut;

* Restoration of $273,000 for rabies vaccine research, which the Governor had vetoed; and

* An addition of $30,000 for Future Farmers of America.

Wolff said the budget signed by Governor Casey Thursday night provides for an increase of 150 percent in agricultural research funding to an amount of $2.5 million, which is $1.5 million over 1987-88 funding levels.

Of the total, $3.4 million, an increase of 13 percent will go to Pennsylvania's fairs for capital improvements and premium reimbursements.

Product promotion gets a boost, as $400,000 — 11 percent higher than the previous year's funding level — will be used for the promotion of Pennsylvania Agricultural products.

To protect the poultry industry, $100 thousand was added to poultry programs for diagnostic, surveillance, and field investigation services.

Following is a description of line items in the 1988-89 budget for the Department of Agriculture that were affected by the supplemental budget.

Greg Hevner's 121-pound Hampshire received the reserve grand champion title. This title is not new to Greg for he has shown the grand champion lamb for 4 years and reserve grand champion for 5-years of his 4-H career at the Frederick Fair.

Hottest Fabric On The Fashion Scene Modeled By Promoters

BY LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — What's the hottest fabric on the fashion scene? Wool, naturally.

Last Saturday at the Keystone Leadline competition, 34 contestants flocked to the state farm show building to impress spectators with the stunning look of wool.

Who is more qualified to promote wool than those who produce it? Consequently, sheep of all sizes and breeds modeled their clean and fleecy coats.

They were accompanied by leadspersons from 9 to 20 years of age dressed in processed wool outfits that could outdo designs from the most fashionable boutiques. Contestants modeled a variety of weaves, textures, colors and styles while leading a registered yearling ewe at halter.

Accessorizing their outfits with matching or coordinating hats, scarves, shoes, boots, gloves, berets, and tams, the contestants also tied matching or coordinating scarves or halters on their sheep.

In the senior division, Rachael Hixenbaugh of Slippery Rock captured the top spot. Amid tears, she said, "I've been trying to do this for seven years. They told me it couldn't be done—winning twice—but I finally did it."

Seven years ago, Rachael had placed first in the junior division of the KILE Leadline.

The 20-year-old modeled a 100 percent full-length black coat featuring wide lapels and pockets. She removed it to reveal a ¾-length double-breasted walking coat. Fully lined, the black, white and carmel plaid coat complimented her solid black wool skirt and lambs wool sweater. She wore a carmel wool hat, gloves, coordinating scarf and black pumps.

Rachel currently is an assistant shepherd at Yeo Farms, Ohio. About an hour before winning the leadline competition, she showed the Suffolk champion ewe and ram and the reserve champion ewe for Yeo Farms. As if assistant shepherding is not enough to keep her busy, she also is majoring in communications/advertising and minoring in Spanish at Slippery Rock University.

Runner-ups in the senior division included the following: Susan Mawhinney, Waynesburg; Karen Mullen of Thurmont, Maryland; Jennifer Mawhinney, Waynesburg; Arlisa Snavely, Lancaster; Wendy Hixenbarugh, Beaver; Carey Donches, Manheim; Lisa Troha, Glencoe; Gwendolyn Perry, Hamburg; and Wendy Debnam, Hanover.

Junior Division

In the junior division of the leadline, Laura Kwisnik of Clarksburg, Indiana County, swept top honors. Despite her constant, effervescent smile while leading her sheep, the 10-year-old admitted she was "scared and really surprised" that she won To prepare for the event, she practiced in her kitchen by pretending her mother was the judge. Then Laura went on to win the leadline in her own county before competing in KILE.

Laura, with her Southdown ewe, slipped into style with a gaberdine dress made from 100% wool. In a checked pastel shades, Laura accessorized it with a large blue bow in her hair, matching shoes, earrings and bone colored hosiery.

The Indiana County girl is active in 4-H livestock, sheep and horse judging clubs.

Additional junior placements include the following: Christine Baxter, Marlinton, W. Va.; Patrick Zagrodnichek, Clarksburg; Laura Langlotz, Monkton, Md.; Gayle Clyde, Slippery Rock; Amy Eshelman, Sinking Springs; Paula Hunter, Fleetwood; Leon Hunter, Fleetwood; Julia Ann Keafer, Somerset; and Stephanie Bowman, Lenhartsville.

Three judges allotted contestants a possible 40 points for outfits, 25 for poise and 35 for sheep. Judges included Rebecca Harmon of Maryland, Ron Miller of Wey Farms, and Lorraine Lewis of Mount Joy.

Homestead Notes

Arlisa Snavely, Lancaster, placed fifth out of 17 contestants in the senior division of KILE's Leadline.

State Lamb and Wool Queen, Jennifer Mawhinney, Waynesburg, placed fourth in the Leadline at KILE.

After placing first in the Keystone Leadline, Rachael Hixenbaugh, 20, said, "I've been trying to do this for seven years." Then, she had won the top placing in the junior division of the KILE leadline.

In the junior division of the KILE Leadline competition, Laura Kwisnik of Clarksburg placed first with her pastel plaid wool gabadine dress.

Another Clarksburg contestant, Patrick Zagrodnichek, took third place in the junior division of KILE's Leadline.

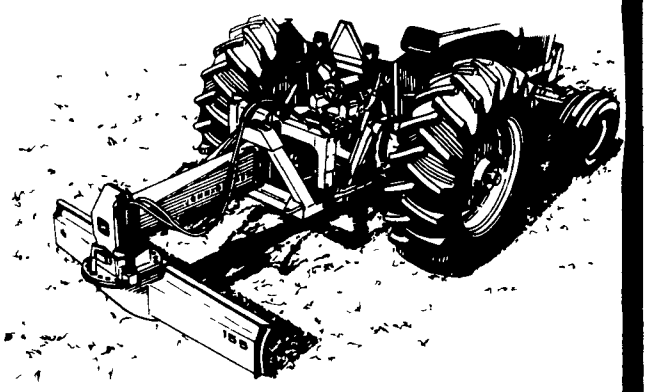
ROLL THE LOAD. DON'T PUSH IT



- John Deere rear blades are precisely curved to roll material along, rather than push it. Works easier and faster, uses less horsepower.
- You can adjust the blade to the job — change tilt, pitch, angle and offset. Reverse it, too. Cutting edges also reverse on some models, for extra life.
- Choose from five sizes.

The Long Green Line™

JOHN DEERE

Nothing runs like a Deere™

Hottest Fabric

New Wools

The purpose for the lead line is to promote the luxious, long wearing comfort and fashion of wool. The new varieties modeled, demonstrated that wool can give many different looks. These are achieved by the chemical finishes applied to woolens.

Shrinkage and wool's unwashability has always been a disadvantage. But today's technology has changed that. The new "Superwash" label is giving wool a new image. "Superwash" labeled products are 100 percent wool that can be machine washed and machine dried using ordinary household detergent.

Wool also can be treated permanently to make it mothproof, stain proof, rain proof and fire retardant.

Unlike synthetics that are made from dwindling resources, wool is a natural and renewable resource. Sheep find adequate nourishment on marginal land and replenish the soil that feeds them.

Shear a sheep today and a year from now, when the fleece has long since become fabric, the same sheep is ready again for shearing and the cycle repeats.

Ordinarily, wool yarn is spun from several different lots of wool to obtain various color mixes and maintain uniformity and quality.

With all wool's redeeming qualities, the woolly promoters who flocked to KILE remind consumers that the hottest fabric on the fashion scene is wool—so wear it.

Trail Ride to Benefit Handicapped

LANCASTER — The Lancaster County 4-H Therapeutic Riding for the Handicapped, an accredited member of the North American Riding for the Handicapped, will conduct a fundraising trail ride Sunday, October 30. Proceeds will benefit the Silver Shoes 4-H Therapeutic Riding Club.

The 15-mile trail ride will be held in northern Lancaster County on trails in the Cornwall Fire Tower area, starting from Lower Hopewell Horse Center, and will be guided by Dave Rintz. Any person with a horse to ride is invited to participate.

The Ride for the Handicapped raises funds enabling handicapped persons to experience the thrill, satisfaction, and challenge of being on horseback. For many of these people, horseback riding becomes a means of improving balance, coordination, endurance and strength. The disabled become mobile, learn to guide a responsive animal and grow in self esteem.

Participants are asked to get friends, relative and neighbors to pledge money for each mile they ride. Riders who do not get sponsors will be required to pay a $5 entrance fee the day of the ride. Pledges are due two weeks after the ride.

Sign in on the day of the ride will be from 10 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. with the ride beginning promptly at 11 a.m. Riders may wish to provide their own lunches, but drinks and a small snack will be provided at midpoint.

For advance registration materials contact Ellen Turnbull at (717) 626-7933 or write to her at 104 West End Ave., Lititz, PA 17543.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

It's a jungle out there.

Behind every corner, around every turn, up every step lurks some hideous form of dangerous monster. Almost invisible, the monsters wait, patient, unmoving, to lash out and attack their unsuspecting victims.

With bodily harm intended, the monsters rip and gouge, tear and trip, mash, mutilate and muddy, soil, slash, slice, snag and splinter. Tattered, ragged, with gaping wounds, the victims are borne home. There, they collapse in a sad heap, bagging mercy and healing from sewing machine and laundry appliances.

Farm work clothes.

Show me a farm wife who has never found a ragged three-corner tear in a new shirt or jeans and I'll show you a farm wife blessed with send-out laundry service. New clothing, perhaps due to inexperience - or not reinforced by heavy-duty patches - is most susceptible to attack by mend-rending monsters.

Spikes on gates, equipment bolts, and remaining sections of broken door handles, for instance, are among the various species of mending monsters which have been genetically programmed to rip ragged tears in denim jeans.

One sub-specie of that monster lineage is protruding nails, which don't really protrude. Independent studies show so-called protruding nails actually live in deep burrows bored in wooden door frames, and lunge in feeding attack when soft sweatshirt fabric slides by.

Long, narrow appendages on farm equipment, such as gear shifts and levers for PTO and hydraulic operation, have evolved over time to snatch and hold. Their favored quarry are partially buttoned, quilted flannel shirts, worn not tucked in but hanging loose, like a jacket. Catching up under the quilted fabric as it slides off a tractor seat, these metal appendages effectively grasp the moving shirt just long enough to rip off at least the lower half of the buttons.

One real hazard is the fire-breathing monster, more commonly known by its scientific name: farm shop welder.

Welders belch nasty hot sparks in their drooling attacks on T-shirts and coveralls. Sometimes the spark injuries are critical, a plentiful scattering of dark-edged holes completely bitten through soft fabric. Other wounds appear less severe, but grow more prominent as injured tissue weakens through subsequent wash-and-wear cycles.

It was a welder at the root of the most recent - and one of the most devastating in memory - attacks on a favorite garment belonging to the Farmer. He had removed his hat, and set it to the side as he donned his welding helmet to make a minor equipment repair.

A few minutes later, aware of a strange bright glow, he glanced up from the repair job to discover his hat merrily burning in dancing orange flames. A split-second decision, based on the worn and decrepit state of the hat from long, heavy use, was made.

He pitched the hat out through the open shop door, to the bare ground, where it expired moments later, and was consumed by rapid cremation. Sole remains were a misshapen lump of green plastic, residue of the head size adjustment band.

(I've threatened to burn a few of his most decrepit hats myself.)

What farm wife wouldn't be interested in a comprehensive insurance plan for accident-prone, hardworking farm chore garments? Blanket coverage would encompass blue jeans and twill work pants, T-shirts and flannel shirts, sweatshirts, denim jackets, coveralls, rubber boots, and miscellaneous related items. And, hats, of course.

We could have the government underwrite it and call our plan Mend-icare. Or maybe Mend-icaid?

And, in light of the above episode, the coverage really should include death benefits.

Prevent Choking

* Food asphyxiation causes about 75 childhood deaths per year, about the same number caused by poisoning. Researchers at Johns Hopkins University have identified several foods and food characteristics frequently associated with choking.

* Round or cylindrical foods such as sliced hot dogs cause trouble because they fit so well into a child's airway. Hot dogs are the single most hazardous food item.

* Hard or tough foods such as carrots may be difficult to chew. Therefore, large pieces are often swallowed.

* Foods that are small, smooth, or slick when wet, hard candy for example, may easily slip down the throat.

* Pliable or compressible foods such as pieces of meat, hot dogs or grapes may form a particularly tight plug in the throat.

* Thick and sticky foods like peanut butter can block the airway. Adding to the danger is the fact that a child's airway is small and therefore more susceptible to blockage.

Sausage: The Link To Unlimited Tastes

Sausages may be one of mankind's oldest and favorite meats. For the most part, sausage is made from pork trimmings (pieces too small to make a chop or roast) ground and seasoned.

Spices and seasonings give sausages distinctly different tastes. Although satisfying and flavorable when cooked separately, try combining it with other foods to make soups and casseroles.

We received dozens of ham loaf recipes. Since many were repeats or similar, we consolidated them.

From the looks of our mail, pork chops remain one of pork's top drawing cards. Try these recipes and choose your favorites. It's guaranteed to be a difficult choice but delightful eating.

HOW EARTHQUAKES WORK

Earthquakes are violent movements of the earth's surface, caused by waves of energy released from "faults." Faults are fractures in the earth that start as deep as 11 miles below the surface and sometimes reach the ground above. According to the plate tectonics theory, the earth's surface consists of 20 plates of land, separated by faults, in continuous slow motion. This motion causes plates' jagged edges to grind past one another in abrupt movements that sometimes result in earthquakes.

Whopper Of A Pumpkin

By Jed Kensinger
Special to Lancaster Farming

This is pumpkin season and six-year-old Shannon White, Lititz, has some whoppers.

Shannon, daughter of Foster and Denise White, boasts pumpkins weighing 50 and 70 pounds, among others. She weighs 50 pounds herself.

The pumpkins attained that weight in much less time than it took Shannnon.

Last spring, kindergarten teacher Janet Frace of Kissel Hill Elementary School gave one seed to each of her students.

Each student planted a seed in a styrofoam cup. When it sprouted, Shannon took her pumpkin plant home and put it on the window sill.

She watered it daily and watched it grow. In late June, she transplanted it outside. She continued to water it every day, which was essential if it was going to survive the hot and dry summer.

Eventually, there were vines growing all over the back yard. Hundreds of feet of pumpkin vines took over her mother's flower bed and even killed the carnations and baby's breath.

Soon, green squash appeared on various points of the vine. Shannon continued to faithfully water and turn the small pumpkins every day.

The pumpkins quickly grew so big that Shannon could no longer turn the pumpkins. Then Shannon began reminding her parents to turn the pumpkins.

As of last week the pumpkins were the usual ripened orange.

Why Leaves Change Color

HUNTERDON, N.J. — Many people believe that a mischievous Jack Frost is responsible for plant leaf color change, but the weather has nothing to do with it at all. As the days grow shorter and the nights longer, a chemical clock inside the trees starts up, releasing a hormone which retricts the flow of sap to each leaf. As autumn progresses, the sap flow slows and chlorophyll, the chemical that gives the leaves their green color in the spring and summer, disappears. The residual sap becomes more concentrated as it dries, creating the colors of fall.

Along with the green pigment chlorophyll, leaves contain carotenoids, yellow or orange pigments which, for example, give carrots their color. During most of the year, greater amounts of green coloring mask these yellowish colors. When food-making stops in the fall, the green color disappears. The yellowish colors become visible and give leaves part of their fall splendor. Trees that normally produce good yellow color include poplar, ginkgo, Norway maple, hickory, yellowwood, birch and redbud.

At the same time, additional chemical changes may occur and cause other pigments to form varying from yellow to red to blue. Some of them give rise to the reddish and purplish fall colors of dogwoods, sumacs, and euonymus.

For the best red, plants must be in a sunny spot where they can manufacture a great deal of sugar. When nights become cool and temperatures drop to 45 F or lower, sugars become trapped in the leaves. At this point, the red pigment produces the intense colors seen in the mid-October landscape. Normally, bright, sunny days accompanied by cool nights and moist soil result in vibrant colors. Trees under stress tend to produce the most intense fall colors. The best reds are produced in red maple, sugar maple, sourwood, Bradford pear, red oak, scarlet oak and black gum.

As the leaves die and fall to earth, the forest begins a winter-long slumber. The leaves, which through the warmer months convert carbon dioxide to oxygen, now take up another task, enriching the soil and providing the nutrients for future generations of trees. And by the time this year's leaves fall, next spring's leaves are tightly wrapped in buds ready to unravel in the soft colors of spring.

When 10-year-old Jason Flowers, Manheim, entered Maude, a French Angora rabbit, in the fair, he got a lot of attention from others who were intriqued by the long-haired rabbit. On right, Kelly Kurse, 10; and Marcy Geib, 11.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

You can microwave a simple apple dessert in about the time it takes to eat a fresh apple.

One micro-baked apple cooks in two to three minutes; four take about eight to ten minutes, depending on the variety of apple and your microwave's wattage. In your conventional oven, baking time is 45 to 60 minutes.

About a quart of applesauce cooks in 8 to 10 minutes, compared to 15 to 20 minutes on the range. Poached apple rings for six are done in 4 to 5 minutes, compared to about 12 minutes in a skillet. And an apple-fruit compote that would bake at 350 degrees F for 1 hours, microwaves in about 15 minutes.

Besides speedy cooking, microwaving these simple apple desserts offers convenience. There's little stirring when making applesauce. There's no worry of scorching applesauce, of cooking dry poached apple rings or burning baked apples. And, after cooking there are no messy cooked-on apple pans to clean up.

Nothing beats a fresh apple for low-calorie, low-fat, low-sodium, no-cholesterol, high-fiber eating. But today's simple apple desserts also are high in fiber, contain no cholesterol, little fat and sodium and are relatively low in calories.

Baked apples made in your conventional oven or poached apple rings made in a skillet on the range-top both need some butter or margarine to keep apples moist and to prevent them from sticking to the pan. With naturally moist microwave cooking and a loose cover, apples stay juicy and don't cook onto the dish bottom, so no fat is needed. A waxed paper cover keeps some moisture in and yet allow apples to cook quickly without drying out.

Only a small amount of water is needed in microwaved applesauce or a fruit compote. Since microwave cooking is a moist-heat way of cooking, more water would make a very thin applesauce or compote. The tight cover -- plastic wrap or well-fitting lid -- holds in steam, so apples cook quickly.

Minimum sugar is used because quick cooking lets the natural apple flavor and sweetness shine through. Amount of sugar will vary depending on the variety of apple used.

Apple peeling can be left on to add extra fiber. It's much quicker to prepare an apple dessert that way. And the peeling -- even in applesauce, apple compote or other desserts, like crisps and pies -- adds texture and color. In micro-baked apples the texture varies with the variety of apples, but generally the skin is more chewy than on a conventionally baked apple.

Applesauce

2 pounds apples*
⅓ cup water
½ cup sugar, to taste (optional)

Wash and quarter apples. Discard stems and blossom ends. Combine apples and water in microwave-safe 3-quart bowl or casserole. Cover with plastic wrap or lid. Microwave (High) 8 to 10 minutes, stirring halfway through cooking. (Cooking time depends on variety of apple used.)

Force fruit through a sieve or food mill. Add sugar to taste while hot, mixing until dissolved. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

*Two pounds of apples equals 8 small apples or 6 medium apples or 4 large apples.

For chunky applesauce: If desired, peel apples. After cooking, do not puree apples; stir in sugar while still hot.

Each serving -- ¼ of recipe: 111 calories, 0 protein, .5g fat, 28g carbohydrate, 1mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

Poached Apple Rings

3 large firm cooking apples
½ cup water
2-3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Wash, core and cut apples into ½-inch-thick rings; set aside.

Stir together water, sugar and vanilla in microwave-safe large shallow dish. Add apples, placing them in a single layer. Cover with wax paper. Microwave (High) 4 to 5 minutes, or until barely tender. (Cooking time depends on variety of apple used.) If necessary for even cooking, rearrange apples or rotate dish ¼ turn halfway through cooking. Makes 6 servings.

Each serving: 105 calories, 0 protein, 1g fat, 26g carbohydrate, 2mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

Easy Baked Apples

4 baking apples
4 tablespoons raisins
4 tablespoons chopped nuts
3-4 tablespoons packed brown sugar
¾-1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons water (optional)

Core apples and peel a thin strip around top center; place in microwave-safe custard cups or round cake dish. Stir together raisins, chopped nuts, brown sugar and cinnamon. Fill centers of apples with raisin mixture; spoon remaining mixture over apple tops. Cover with waxed paper. If desired, pour water around apples. (If using custard cups, add ½ tablespoon to each cup.) Microwave (High) 7 to 9 minutes or until tender. If necessary for even cooking, rearrange cups or rotate dish halfway through cooking. Let stand, covered for a few minutes, or until cool enough to eat. Serve warm or cold. Makes 4 servings.

For one serving: Place cored apple in microwave-safe custard cup or dessert dish. Stir together 1 tablespoon each chopped nuts and raisins, about 2 to 3 teaspoons packed brown sugar and ¼ to ¼ teaspoon cinnamon. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave (High) 2 to 3 minutes or until tender. Continue as above.

Each serving: 185 calories, 1g protein, 6g fat, 36g carbohydrate, 6mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

Apple Compote

2 firm large apples
1 package (12 ounces) dried mixed fruit
1 orange
½ cup honey
½ cup white wine, apple juice or apple cider
1 cup hot water

Peel apples, if desired; core and cut into bite size pieces. Arrange with dried fruit in microwave-safe 2-quart casserole. Grate rind of orange over fruit. Peel and section the orange and add. Drizzle with honey; add wine and water. Cover with lid or plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 12 to 15 minutes, stirring once or twice during cooking, or until fruits are tender. Serve warm or cold. Makes 8 servings.

Each serving: 216 calories, 2g protein, 0 fat, 53g carbohydrate, 10mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

Have You Heard?

Lancaster Extension Home Economist

Beware Of Common Housheold Chemicals

Look under your kitchen sink, in the bathroom, the laundry, the garage, and the basement for common household products that are potentially harmful. A survey of almost any American home is likely to yield a list of 20 to 30 products with some type of cautionary statement on the package. Examples run the gamut from bleach, ammonia, window cleaners, floor and furniture polishes, stain removers, solvents, laundry pre-wash products, oven cleaners, moth proofers, degreasers, shoe polish, paint remover, insect repellents, roach killer, drain cleaners, deodorizers, metal polishes, waterproofers, wood preservatives, paints and brush cleaners. Can you imagine a house without at least some of these products?

Most people have learned to be careful with these products where children are concerned. Labels warn of toxic effects if they are accidentally swallowed or splashed in the eyes. What most of us never think about is the potentially hazardous effects these products can have after they are washed down the drain.

The chemicals found in many household products demand that they be used and disposed of with caution. Many can be very damaging to marine plants and fish. Others can accumulate in the environment, in sediments on the bottom of streams and rivers, and in fish tissue, eventually causing serious problems such as lesions. The use and disposal of many of these chemicals in industrial situations is highly regulated; yet most of us use them at home with too little regard for their possibly harmful effects.

Use With Care. As with pesticides, the rule of thumb is to read the label and to use the product only when absolutely needed and directed. Some products become even more dangerous when mixed with others; for example, chlorine bleach mixed with ammonia can produce a deadly gas. Protective clothing and rubber gloves may be necessary; good ventilation is a must.

There are products available that contain no petroleum distillates or other potentially dangerous chemicals and are biodegradable. An example is Woolite. Again, the label will give you this information. Where trade names are used, no discrimination is intended, and no endorsement by the Cooperative Extension is implied.

It is also possible that nontoxic substitutes may work just as well. Ordinary detergents and water can clean as effectively as the petroleum-based super cleaners. Boiling water poured down the sink may preclude the need for caustic drain cleaners. Baking soda is an excellent cleaner and is a good deodorizer.

Products should always be safely stored in their original containers. The caution statements on the package should be carefully read before using.

Disposing Of Household Chemcials. Disposing of household chemicals is a problem. The common method is to wash the chemical down the drain. From an environmental point of view, this is a poor choice, and other disposal methods should be used when possible.

Neither home septic systems nor municipal treatment plants are designed to remove toxic chemicals from wastewater. They generally pass through the treatment process and end up in a stream, river, or groundwater.

These products should never be poured on the ground or into gutters where they will eventually enter storm sewers, which generally lead directly to a nearby stream.

The best way to dispose of used chemical products is to put them in the trash. To prepare them to be picked up by the trash collector and taken to the landfill, wrap the chemical in its original container in newspaper, then wrap in an old plastic bag. Large containers, such as paint cans, can be stuffed with newspaper and allowed to air dry before being placed in the trash. Empty containers, rags and old brushes can be wrapped in plastic and then put in the trash. The object of all these disposal techniques is to keep the chemicals from getting in the water.

Garden Spot Chapter Produces National Winners

BY LISA RISSER

LAMPETER (Lancaster) — The highest individual award that can be bestowed on a member of Future Farmers of America is the American Farmer Degree.

It is not an easily achieved award. It requires the individual to be well rounded with a background of community involvement and the foresight and determination to invest in his own future.

Relatively few American Farmer Degrees are presented each year. Many a school chapter will go years between a degree for one of its members. For Lampeter-Strasburg's Garden Spot Chapter, 1988 is a remarkable year: two chapter members will receive the American Farmer Degree at the national convention in November.

The Garden Spot members receiving the award are Don Welk Jr., currently a senior at Penn State majoring in dairy production, and Barry Harnish, who is farming with his father in Willow Street.

The chapter to which an FFA'er belongs and his chapter advisor are important to achieving the national award. The Garden Spot Chapter, led by Steve Smith, is a fairly small program with 40 in-school students. The progam's size allows Smith to be able to give students individualized attention.

The Garden Spot Chapter was the first FFA chapter to be established in Lancaster County, and it ranks among the top five chapters in Pennsylvania. It is located in southern Lancaster County amid miles and miles of prime farmland.

Smith, who has been teaching at Lampeter-Strasburg High School for five years, encourages his students to be productive members of society through community involvement and agricultural projects.

Community service begins for the students with the Lampeter Fair. "We encourage the students to work in the fair while they're in school," said Smith. "They're involved in setting up, running, and cleaning up the fair; roof repair; painting; and maintenance. We try to teach them community involvement while they're in school so they will be willing to work in community affairs afterwards. For instance, both Barry and Don are fair directors."

Through project work the students learn responsibility and to how to meet goals. They also are exposed to career opportunities. "Whether a student has a little or a lot (of resources), we set up expectations of his achieving the best with what he has," explained Smith. "Projects are tailored to the individual and his needs."

For most students, project work culminates in competition, be it with an animal, crop, or speech. "If the student raises a project we encourage him to show it at the fair. If he has the chance to be in further competition, I expect him to go further."

In order to help students accomplish all that they can, Smith visits them at their home. "When I visit them in their home situation, I can pinpoint where they could be doing better with their project. I also can see if they are doing all that they can within their family situation."

For instance if a student lives on a farm where hogs and beef cattle are raised, Smith encourages the student to be involved with raising both types of animals.

"Visiting the student at home also lets them know you care and are concerned about what they are doing," Smith added.

Welk and Harnish flourished under Smith's tutelage as well as from his predecessor, Richard Yentcer, who is now teaching in New York.

Both Welk and Harnish attribute their FFA success to their teachers. "We had two fine ag advisors: Richard Yentcer and Steve Smith," said Harnish. "They were two guys who kept track of contests and helped with advice on records. They were there to look at your projects and make suggestions. They were on the ball."

Welk agreed, adding "We had a really strong ag program. The first teacher tried to teach the basics in leadership. Smith taught me how to try and manage programs and work with people."

Both teachers encouraged their students to look into the future to see their options. They also tried to expose their students to various methods of operating a farm or business.

"We got to see different operations and how they worked, and we could decide how we'd manage things on our own place," noted Welk.

Welk, 21, lives in Strasburg at his parents' farm when he's not in college. Welk owns a herd of 25 dairy cows of which 15 are leased to other farmers. The remaining 10 are young stock being raised on the farm.

In the leasing arrangement, Welk leases a cow for about $300 to $400 per year, payable in four installments, to a farmer. The farmer feeds the cow, pays the veterinarian bills, and breeds the cow through artificial insemination to a bull that he and Welk have agreed upon. The farmer receives the milk check and Welk receives the cow's offspring.

Welk's interest in dairy cows began early as he watched his father work. Don Welk Sr. owns and operates Stonehurst Farm Dairy Sales Inc. He buys and sells dairy cows and bulls, horses, and mules.

However, when Welk became a 4-H'er, he started out with steers. "But the steers were too big and too wild and I was too small, so I decided to stick with dairy cows," recalled Welk. He joined the Red Rose Dairy Club and throughout the years served as reporter, vice president, treasurer, and president.

Welk started out with one cow and tried to increase his herd by one calf per year. Many of the calves were purchased however, as his first cow produced nine bulls out of the nine calves that she had.

When Welk reached high school, he joined the Garden Spot Chapter and immediately became involved in the club's leadership. During his freshman and sophmore years he was the news reporter; in his junior year he was chapter and county vice president; in his last year of high school, Welk assumed the duties of president.

Welk's FFA projects included dairy judging and crop production. He also was involved in citrus sales, selling more than any other Lampeter-Strasburg student each year that he was in high school.

Among the numerous awards that Welk has garnered include Star Greenhand, Star Chapter Farmer, Red Rose Farmer, and Keystone Degrees; DeKalb Award; proficiency awards in crop production; Foundation Award; Lancaster County Banker's Award; and several dairy judging team and individual wins.

Welk also spent his money wisely during these years to buy farm equipment. "We don't need all the implements at the farm but I hope to use them after college when I go into farming," he explained.

He would attend sales and buy good, used equipment. Any that needing repair or renovation would become one of his high school shop projects. Among the more than a dozen implements he has are tillage, hay, and tobacco equipment.

Currently Welk is putting his leadership and organizational skills to work for the Penn State Dairy Science Club. This year he helped organize the Nittany Lion Fall Classic, which is a cow/heifer sale sponsored by the club and the Pennsylvania Holstein Association.

Barry Harnish chose another route than college for his future. He is working with his father, Nelson, on the family dairy farm.

"I work for a percentage of the milk check," he said. "As the number of cows increase and the milk increases so does the percentage."

During high school, Harnish participated in dairy cow, steer, and corn production projects. He also became involved in public speaking, specializing in extemporaneous speaking in his senior year. In competitions he placed second in the county, third in the area and region, and sixth in the state.

Harnish received several awards in FFA including the greenhand, chapter, Red Rose Farmer, and Keystone degrees. He also was chapter treasurer for two years.

In the year after he graduated, Harnish was the eastern regional vice president for the state FFA organization. "I visited schools, helped plan and run the state convention, attended local FFA banquets and special school functions, and judged competitions," said Harnish of his duties. He also carried the state flag each day at the national convention that year.

Residents Raise Gardening To New Heights

BY BARBARA MILLER
Lycoming Co. Correspondent

Laporte, (Sullivan County) — Whether it's tilling a 400-acre farm or tending an African violet, most humans possess an inextinguishable penchant for watching green things grow. Age does not diminish the instinct. To those who are age three to 93, the sprouting of a seed brings equal pleasure. But each additional year makes stooping to tend seedlings in a garden become more of a chore.

Because many residents of the Laporte United Methodist Home, Laporte, found it difficult to bend was no reason they shouldn't enjoy a garden, decided Sharon Rosbach, assistant activities and volunteer supervisor director. So Sharon originated the idea of a raised garden bed about the height of a wheelchair to make gardening easier for patients.

"Most of them are older and they can't bend. I thought that if we had a garden it would trigger memories for some of the patients. They really enjoy it and it makes them feel at home," Sharon says.

Although the idea of the raised garden began with Sharon, several others including the patients helped bring the idae to fruition. Theory became fact in the hands of Phil Snyder, a retired woodshop teacher from Sullivan County High School, who generously donated his time and labor to make the garden. Mr. Snyder drew up plans for the 4x9x1-foot deep garden bed which is situated on top wooden wheels for mobility.

When construction of the garden was completed this spring, according to Julie McCamley, activities and volunteer supervisor, residents went on a bus excursion to the Wagon Wheel, a greenhouse in Dushore to purchase plants for the garden.

"Twelve residents picked out plants and took them to the cash register. When they tried to pay for them the owner refused payment and donated them to the patients," she recalls.

Bags of potting soil were dumped into the garden and residents soon were busy planting such crops as tomatoes, peppers, onions, and cabbage. Marigolds were added later to discourage the deer.

All of the residents interviewed spoke favorably of the garden whether they worked in it or just enjoyed watching things grow.

"I come and check it every day," said one patient in a wheelchair.

"I like it all," said another who carried water to it faithfully throughout the drought.

Another patient, known as the resident artist of the home, said he "just liked to see things grow."

But they all attest to a great mystery as a result of the garden. In addition to planting the garden and watching it grow, the residents, of course, looked forward to eating the fresh produce. Having already enjoyed onions, radishes, and lettuce, they all anxiously awaited the ripening of the first tomato. Just before it reached its peak of lusciousness, it disappeared. At this date no one seems to know who pulled off the great Red Tomato Caper, nor is there much optimism by residents that the mystery will ever be solved.

Even though the first ripe tomato disappeared, the residents are continuing to enjoy other tomatoes and produce, and, of course, the patronizing of the great out-of-doors while doing so.

Perhaps residents of the home wouldn't mind if some of the rest of us borrow their idea of a 36-inch high garden; in particular, those of us who have endured aching backs and sore legs from stooping to pick bushels of string beans or crawled on hands and knees to weed 1/2 inch high carrots. Henceforth, may all our gardening be raised to new heights.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

The alfalfa has been stored in one silo. The corn silage is in another silo and the third one might be needed too. There is still quite a bit of corn to be picked.

As the men busy themselves with these jobs, I finish my unending job of planting flowers in pots for the house. My ten-inch windowsills hold over one hundred pots of many varieties of foliage and flower plants. This year the rabbits were very hard on my outside flowers during the dry period.

Another job around here is picking up black walnuts. I must clear both the frontyard and the backyard before the grass can be mowed. Some trees only have a few but other walnuts have an abundant crop. As I have not used last year's harvest, I don't need this new crop. Of course, the squirrels are carrying many nuts away and burying the rest in the lawn and the garden.

Talking about abundance, this year I have 38 heads of Chinese cabbage. Some years the seed does not even come up but this year it did. So, I'll be giving most of them away to neighbors the same as my cherry tomatoes. The tomato plants sprawl so much that they cover my broccoli, carrots and even extend to the new strawberry plants.

This year I've canned over 100 pints of pickles. Maybe next year I won't plant any as they do require constant attention in order to pick tiny ones. But they don't need any more attention than my strawberries, which are in need of constant weeding.

There are a dozen huge green and white striped pumpkins in the garden and I'll need the wheelbarrow to bring them up to the house. The 100 foot row of sweet potatoes are not all dug as they too had so much foliage. This year my five bushel of white and red potatoes were very large and we should have enough for most of the winter.

Don't Lose It!

Our one-year-old has made an important discovery in the last few weeks. It began as an amusing antic and has turned into a sometimes embarassing situation. And it all happened over one little activity that her mother initiated as a good hand eye coordination opportunity.

Several weeks ago, Elise learned the word m-o-n-e-y. Now that isn't too unusual as it closely resembles the word mommie that she has been saying for some time. However, it is the accent on the long "e" glint in her eye that indicates mischief. It all started when I offered Elise a small box full of coins. She was to try to drop them into the slot in her piggy bank.

What started as an every-so-often event has turned into a daily request. Not only does she beg us for "mon-ey" but now she goes up to women's purses and points to them announcing her interest in the money inside! And of course, this seems so cute that she is often rewarded with a few pennies or nickles. Thus the cycle, repeats itself.

Preschoolers like playing with coins without understanding their importance. When we start giving our young children money, they will begin to pick up our attitude toward money in the ways we consciously or unconsciously show and tell them about it.

Children learn by doing, and research shows that they learn most about money management by having money to spend and save. The actual amount is not as important as having occasions to use it. As parents we are the source of our child's earliest spending money, and we are in the best position to start teaching money management.

If we want our children to learn money management, we must provide some money for him or her to manage just as we provide printed material so that children can learn t read.

One early concept to teach is that you cannot buy everything that is wanted. As you shop, share with your children honestly about why you don't spend money for certain things. Distinguish between not having the money and saving for something you believe more important.

Money management for preschoolers might begin with a few coins to spend on a shopping trip. You will need to provide suggestions of ways they can spend it such as on an ice cream cone or an item at the check out. Most importantly, if your child selects an item that costs more than he has, indicate that is the case. Then offer suggestions of what your child can buy. It is important not to give in and add more money. This will undermine the meaning of an allowance -- a fixed amount to spend during a given time. Understanding an allowance is difficult for some adults, so be patient and consistent as you apply this money management skill. You also may suggest that a child can save this amount and you will add to it the next trip and they will be able to make the larger purchase. This provides the concept of saving.

In any event, leave the spending choice to your child. Choosing between items is an important concept to teach children that people don't have enough money to buy everything they want and must make choices.

Parents beware... your money management skills are showing in the convenience store, at the restaurant, at home and at the bank. I've become much more conscious of my spending habits because there is generally this little voice around gleefully announcing the appearance of money. Hopefully, it's just a passing phase. However, so far, our little toddler is doing better at putting money in the bank than her parents. Maybe I should try some hand-eye coordination activities!

Agri-Women Meet The Challenge Of Change

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — What are the challenges facing agriculture today and in the future? To learn the answer to this question and others, plan now to attend the 1988 American Agri-Women (AAW) Convention, November 16-20, at the Holiday Inn-Center City, Philadelphia.

Hosted by the Penn's Agri-Women, the convention will bring together an array of agricultural leaders from across the country. A wide-range of topics will be discussed as AAW addresses the theme, "The Challenge of Change."

According to Gail McPherson, convention chairman, the meeting has "something for everyone" involved in agriculture, whether from the production side or at the marketing end.

"Our speakers will cover topics ranging from agricultural legislation and animal rights issues to farm futures markets and international agriculture," McPherson said. In addition, AAW issue and commodity committees will meet to develop resolutions for the organization's policy statements.

The convention gets under way on Wednesday, November 16, with a meeting of AAW's board of directors. Other AAW business will be conducted, and the evening will be topped off with a President's Reception featuring Pennsylvania-grown foods.

Thursday morning's session begins with a "Make Your Own Omelet Breakfast," featuring Pennsylvania Omelet King Howard Helmer. Following this will be the keynote address by Philadelphia's own "Ben Franklin," portrayed by Ralph Archbold. Chesapeake-born folk singer Tom Wisner will entertain during a "Philadelphia Cheese Steak Sandwich" luncheon.

The afternoon session will include AAW issue and commodity committee meetings and panel discussions on "International Challenges for AAW" and the "U.S. Sugar Program." Horse-drawn carriages will provide the transportation for a night tour of historic Philadelphia.

Also on Thursday, AAW spouses can enjoy a tour of area agribusinesses representative of Pennsylvania agriculture. Included in the tour are Herr's Potato Chip Factory and Angus Feedlot, Modern Mushrooms company, and Ar-Joy Holstein Farm in Chester County.

Convention-goers will learn about "Regulations and the Futures" in a presentation by Pat Pembroke of the Chicago Board of Trade on Friday morning. Mary Jo Keating, the Du Pont Company, will address "Global Issues," and Carolyn Holleran, executive director of the Pa. Council on Economic Education, will talk on the "Ag in the Classroom" program.

Saturday's session begins with a presentation on "Facts and Myths -- Animal Rights/Research" by Steve Kopperud, the Animal Industry Foundation, and Frankie Trull, the National Association for Biomedical Research. Risk management consultant Jim Moose will talk on the "History and Rules of the Market," followed by Jonathan Harsch, FarmFutures Washington columnist.

The AAW awards banquet Saturday night, featuring a Thanksgiving dinner theme, will be the culmination of convention activities, rewarding members and the media for outstanding contributions.

The convention will conclude on Sunday, Nov. 20, with a "Prayer Breakfast," followed by meetings of AAW's board of directors and executive committee.

Convention participants have much to gain, according to McPherson, who with her husband, Paul, operate Maple Lawn Farm in York County.

"The convention will equip you to understand and handle the opportunities and challenges of the next decade," she said. "It will put you in touch with leaders in all areas of agriculture to give you new perspectives."

Pennsylvania, Maryland Sheep Producers Shine At KILE

BY BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

HARRISBURG — Despite cold weather and a draft show building, a warm split of helpfulness and friendly competition prevailed among sheep breeders from across the country who showed their sheep at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE). Five breeds of sheep were judged October 7 at the Farm Show Complex.

Judging the Oxfords, Columbias and Dorsets was Duron Howard of Mulhall, Okla. Judy Moore, a Shropshire and Cheviot breeder from Eagle, Mich., judged the Shropshires and Hampshires. Moore felt that both breeds had a good show, and that quality ran very deep in the classes. "The Hampshires were more uniform from top to bottom," she said. "With the Shropshires, the quality was there, but some stood out. That's not to say anything against the bottom half of the classes."

Sheep from the flock of Peter D'Ambra, Jefferson, Md., dominated the Shropshire show, winning all the major awards. Showing D'Ambra's sheep were Mike Koehler and Butch Carpenter.

D'Ambra's spring ram lamb was named champion ram, while a fall ram lamb from his flock took home reserve champion ram honors. One of his yearling ewes was awarded champion ewe honors, and a D'Ambra early spring lamb was named reserve champion ewe. He also won the exhibitors flock class and was named premier exhibitor of the Shropshire division.

According to showman Koehler, the champion ram is undefeated in the East. It has won the Eastern States Show, the Maryland, Ohio and New York State Fairs, and the Sussex, NJ, Fair.

The winning ewe has been undefeated for two years on the show circuit, Koehler said. She was named national champion in Louisville, Ky., as a lamb last year, and has received champion awards at 10 shows this year. D'Ambra's flock has been shown at KILE for about 10 years.

Champion hampshire ewe was an early spring ewe lamb from the flock of Jim and Sarah Fleener of Robesonia. The Fleeners raise sheep in cooperation with Sarah's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brubaker. The Brubakers had the reserve champion sale ewe at the show. The champion ewe is the daughter of a ewe that was named reserve champion at KILE in 1983. The sire of this year's champion was named first-place ram as a lamb at the National Show in Kentucky. The champion placed second in her class at the Eastern Regional Hampshire Show held at the Maryland State Fair this year.

Showing the champion hampshire ram was Price Stock Farm of Westminster, Md. The Prices also were named premier exhibitors.

For Oxford breeders, the competition at KILE was also their Eastern Regional Show. The Tim Fleener's spring ewe lamb was selected as champion ewe in the Hampshire division.

Dennis Jones of Richmond, Me., exhibited the champion Oxford ewe. Joyce Burnham showed the ewe.

Ohio Breeder Whisks Top Suffolk Awards At KILE

BY LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — "We couldn't have done better," said Rachael Hixenbaugh who is the assistant herdsperson for Yeo Farms. "We won almost every class we entered."

The Lowellville, Ohio Farm whisked away the top placings with its Suffolk flock that boasts 250 head. They won the champion and reserve ewe, champion ram, best pen of three ewes, and best pair of yearling ewes plue the premier exhibitor banner.

What enabled them to win? Shepherd Joe Hixenbaugh explained, "Good breeding and feed programs. Plus our entries had good scale, size and correctness."

The reserve champion ram is owned by Pine Haven Farm, Newville. John Conaway said, "The farm has 125 head of good, complete buck rams—good and sound."

Judge for the show was Judy Moore who raises several breeds on her Eagle, Michigan farm. She said, "We got good quality here. These are tops and many will be winners when they merge with the west for national competition."

Quality Continues Through Last Day Of KILE Sheep Show

BY LISA RISSER

HARRISBURG — The quality of competition at the open breeding sheep show continued through to the last day of exhibition at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. Romney, Rambouillet, Cheviot, and Montadale breeders ran their best animals before the judge, Gary Ricketts.

John and Jean Woodward of Sabillasville, Md., dominated the Romney competition, showing three out of the four champions and winning the premier exhibitor award. The Woodwards' spring ram lamb was the show's champion ram, while their yearling ewe was champion ewe and the spring ewe lamb was reserve champion ewe.

Reserve champion Romney ram honors went to Sally A. Young of Cannonsburg, Pa.

In the Cheviot competition, Mike Koehler edged out Erdenheim Farm to win both champion ram and champion ewe titles. Koehler, a Schnecksville, Pa. resident, has been exhibiting at KILE for five years now. In 1985 the champion ram's dam was chosen as champion Cheviot ewe at KILE.

In addition to showing both reserve champions of the Cheviot show, Erdenheim Farm of Lafayette Hill, Pa., received the premier exhibitor award.

Gretchen Johnson and Family from Minerva, Ohio, was the premier exhibitor of the Rambouillet contest. The champion and reserve champion ewe as well as the reserve champion ram came out of the family's flock.

Taking the champion Rambouillet ram honors was Billy George Leib of Mechanicsburg, Pa.

For the second year in a row, Maureen Hess of Hudson, N.Y., was declared the premier exhibitor of the Montadale competition at KILE. Unlike last year however, when she went home only with a reserve champion ewe title, this year Hess showed both champion ewe and ram. Her ram is out of the champion Montadale sale ewe of 1986, while his sire was the high selling ram of the sale of the same sale.

Alfred and Katharine Tyler of Glen Arm, Md., exhibited the reserve champion ewe. The reserve champion Montadale ram was shown by Elwood R. Lohr and Family of Nevada, Ohio.

Self-Feeding Brood Ewes
by Clair Engle

There have been some inquires concerning self-feeding complete ground mixed rations to gestating and lactating ewes. The two main advantages of self-feeding a ground mixed ration are reduced labor in feeding and more efficient use of lower quality roughages. Like extended feeding of quality silage, self-fed ewes tend to get too fat. Also the neglect of making a daily observation by the producer of ewes on a self-feeder could prove to be costly should nutritional or health problems go undetected.

Utilizing poorer quality forages certainly is the most apparent advantage for using a self-feeding program, especially if the past summer's drought has drastically reduced your forage quality. Over conditioning can best be controlled by limiting the time ewes have access to the self-feeder.

Some recent studies at the University of Illinois does indicate that ewes can be satisfactorily self-fed. A couple rations formulated that have produced satisfactory results are listed in Table 1.

Table 1. Rations for Self-Feeding Brook Ewes.

TWO-STAGE SNOWTHROWER WITH NEW TRACKS - MODEL 826

This two-stage unit cleans a wide, 26" path. It's powered by a heavy-duty 8 H.P. engine with a cast iron sleeve for durability. The one-gallon fuel tank provides up to an hour's worth of uninterrupted clearing.

The new tracks on this model provide so much traction, you'll never need to use tire chains. Tracks provide more stability from side to side in packed or drifted show, and are designed to pivot independently on the drive axle, for great handling on unlevel terrain.

Optional accessories for Cub Cadet two-stage snowthrowers include: 12-volt AC electric start kit, snow shield, drift cutter bar and tire chains. Headlight kit is available for model 826 only.

(a) Medium- to low-quality hay can be used in a similar manner as the oat hay.

Another self-fed ration that has been used successfully at the Dixon Springs Research Center, Dixon, Illinois consists of 33 percent ground ear corn and 66 percent ground grass-legume hay. Self-feeding this ration can begin a month before lambing. For the lactation periods mix ration as shown in Table 2.

Table 2.

Feeds	Lactating Ewes
	Singles	Twins
Ground ear corn	33	33
Grass-legume hay	62	58
SBOM 44%	4	8
DiCalcium phosphate	1	1

It is important with all of the suggested ration mixes to free-choice a commercial salt-mineral mix recommended for sheep on a high roughage diet.

One major area we have not discussed which can cause some problems is the bridging effect of high-roughage diets in a self-feeder. Bridging merely means the feed will fail to drop down into the feed-ports of the feeder. Managing this problem is generally solved by making a daily trip to the feeder and knocking down the feed. Feeder design and materials certainly can help correct the problem, however, it is not the complete answer.

Self-feeding is not for everybody, but I do believe it can work where larger groups of ewes are being managed in a pasture condition at a time when pasture and/or feed is of poor quality. Let me hear how it has worked for you and if I can assist more give me a call. Remember they can get too fat.

You Don't To Know Reconditi YOU JUS

1st LAW Of Hoober Reconditioned Axial-Flow Combines

SEVEN (7) YEARS OLD IS NOT EQUAL TO (≠) WORN OUT

Because of the simple design of the CASE IH Axial Flow Combines, they can be reconditioned by Hoober's expert combine mechanics to like new condition, so they will provide 2nd and 3rd owners years of satisfactory and profitable operation.

2nd LAW Of Hoober Reconditioned Axial-Flow Combines

2500+HOURS PLUS (+) HOOBER RECONDITIONING EQUALS (=) YEARS OF DEPENDABLE SERVICE.

2500+ hours on a conventional combine usually means it will be too much trouble to be dependable. Axial-Flow Combines with 2500+ hours reconditioned by Hoober's have proven to run for years when bought by farmers in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and New York.

3rd Law Of Hoober Reconditioned Axial-Flow Combines

A CASE-IH AXIAL-FLOW COMBINE SERVICED BY EXPERT HOOBER COMBINE MECHANICS EQUALS (=) LITTLE OR NO DOWN TIME DURING HARVEST.

When Hoober's expert combine mechanics service Axial-Flow Combines in the off-season, they run trouble-free through the season.

You've Tried The Rest... Now Try The Best!

John Deere Hydra-Push™ spreaders have no chains. And none of their problems. This unique design uses a moving panel and sliding floor to push manure into beaters. Fast as 15 feet per minute. There's no fallback and it's virtually self-cleaning. A real time-saver.

Advanced features? No others so advanced as our Hydra-Push™ spreaders. Hydraulic push-off unloading is faster. They need less maintenance because there aren't any chains. And they self-clean. 217 and 332 cubic feet.

Pennsylvania Breeders Dominate KILE Swine Show

BY LISA RISSER

HARRISBURG — About 700 hogs were exhibited by breeders representing five states at the Open Breeding Swine Show at the 1988 Keystone International Livestock Exposition last weekend. Pennsylvania pork producers dominated the competition taking home seven championship titles and six reserve champion titles.

Below is a breed by breed run down of the champions.

BERKSHIRE

Top Gun sons swept the boar classes in the Berkshire competition to become the show's champion and reserve champion boars. Owned by Mapes Family Berkshires of Unionville Center, Ohio, the March boar edged out the February boar for the top title.

Another Top Gun get: Miss Top Gun 95-6, an April gilt owned by the Mapes Family Berkshires, took home the championship gilt honors. Her dam, Miss Cobalt, was champion at the Five Star Show and Sale in Ohio.

CHESTER WHITE

Three out of the four top Chester White titles went to veteran exhibitor Rodger Bankert of Hanover, Pa. The York countian has been showing at KILE for about 25 yeras. Bankert's January gilt is out of Duncan, the champion boar at the 1986 Type Conference. The gilt is a littermate to Bankert's champion boar.

The reserve champion Chester White boar was Midus, the March hog shown by Leester Banister and Sons of Wauseon, Ohio.

DUROCS

David C. Holloway of Glen Rock, PA., showed a March boar that was judged 6to be the champion Duroc boar of the show. The hog's sire, HP 12-2, has sired numerous champions, including Holloway's champion boar at the 1987 KILE.

Holloway, who has been showing at KILE for many years now, also had the show's reserve champion Duroc gilt.

Eight MS Reo Grande 1-2, the January gilt shown be Ron Fetteroff of Centre Hall, Pa., was the champion gilt. A 1-29-88 daughter of Reo Grande, she is out of 7 S Wild Elmer 7-1.

Isla Grande Farm of Marion, Ohio, showed the reserve champion boar, a February son of Front Wheel Assist.

The reserve champion gilt, the second-place April hog, was owned by Larry G. Bauer of Linthicum, Md.

HAMPSHIRE

Although competition was stiff in the Hampshire class, Marilyn Weller of Dwight, Ill., captured both champion female honors as well as the premier exhibitor award. Weller, who also shows Durocs and Yorkshires, showed a February gilt that judge Francis Callahan of Watseka, Ill., called feminine with length and thickness through the rump.

Smith's Hog Farm of Washington, Pa., came away with the champion boar. The March boar is out of a dam that was a champion at KILE two years ago.

Taking the reserve champion boar title was the second-place March boar shown by Carolyn Thomas of Stewartstown, Pa.

LANDRACE

A first-year KILE exhibitor, Barbara Mummert of Seven Valleys, Pa., showed the top Landrace boars as well as the reserve grand champion gilt. She also was declared the show's premier exhibitor.

Donald Lake of Big Cove Tannery, Pa., showed a January gilt that was deemed champion of the Landrace show. A 25-yer exhibitor, Lake's champion was the littermate to the reserve champion at the Summer Type Conference in Springfield, Ill.

POLAND CHINA

All four top honors in the Poland China division went to Leland Mapes and Family of Unionville Center, Ohio, as well as the premier exhibitor award.

Mapes won with get from Thunderdome 14-2, the premier sire at the Ohio State Fair. In both the boar and gilt competitions, the March class winners were selected as champion. The February boar was reserve champion while the April gilt was the reserve champion female.

SPOTTED SWINE

A 4-1-88 daughter of GKI6 Hooker was declared the champion gilt of the Spotted show. Miss 13-5 is owned by Redding Spot Farm of Kenton, Ohio, who has been attending KILE for two years now. Redding Spot Farm's February gilt, Tiffany, captured the Brian L. Lake of Big Cove Tannery, Pa., hit pay dirt with his February boar, Pay Day. The Spotted boar was the champion of its breed.

A littermate to the Chester White champion gilt, the champion boar also was exhibited by Rodger Bankert of Hanover, Pa.

Veteran exhibitor Rodger Bankert showed the champion Chester White gilt, a January Duncan daughter.

The champion Poland China boar was the March boar shown by Leland Mapes.

reserve champion female title.

Brian L. Lake's February boar, Pay Day, was the show's champion boar. It was the first champion here for Lake, a resident of Big Cove Tannery, Pa.

A Maryland exhibitor, Michael Weber, showed the reserve champion boar, a 3-13-88 son of TM7 Axle.

YORKSHIRES

Wilson's Anvil, a 2-2-88 son of CBF6 Anvil, was the champion boar of the Yorkshire competition. Owned by Wilson's Yorkshires of New Freedom, Pa., the boar edged out the March boar shown by Daryl and Darren Grumbine of Myerstown, Pa.

Third-year exhibitor, Michael C. Weber of Whitehall, Md., debuted with Yorkshires at KILE this year and went home with the champion gilt. Muff, a 4-6-88 daughter of Chow Hound, is out of Miss Rat. Weber purchased both parents at the 1987 KILE.

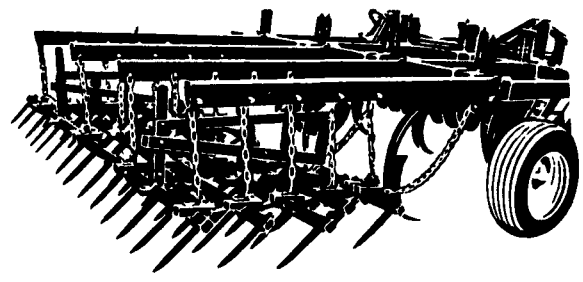
HELP YOUR SOIL BUILDER DO AN EVEN BETTER JOB!



with a BRILLION SPIKE DRAG KIT

The Brillion Spike Drag is especially designed for the Brillion Soil Builder when used in primary tillage. It levels ridges, helps break up cloddy soil and keeps the soil from drying out too rapidly. The smoother surface is also desirable if chemical incorporation is to be done after the coulter-chisel operation.

A special feature of the Brillion Spike Drag is the angle adjustment of the spikes from 20° to 55° in five increments. A sturdy handle is used to move the mechanism. The adjustment feature provides a choice of spike angles to meet varying conditions — from very aggressive to near horizontal (to avoid plugging in heavy residue). Brillion Spike Drag Harrows are available to fit 5, 7, 9, 11 and 13 shank Soil Builders.

This hay harvestor is compatible with any 50-horsepower tractor with a single hydraulic system. It rolls and wraps hay, straw, or forage crops into 1,000-pound bales.

Vemeer Introduces Hay Harvestor

PELLA, IA. — A unique ground-driven hay-harvesting machine designed expressly for operators with tight budgets has been introduced by Vermeer Manufacturing Co.

The Econo Roll hay-harvesting unit combines roller and ground-drive design and engineering with the heavy-duty construction and features typical of conventional Vermeer Balers in the field today. Suggested price on the unit is less than $6,000.

Board chairman Gary Vermeer explained, "The market has overlooked the needs of some operators who require a one-man system but can't afford the industry standard, PTO-driven balers. This machine combines the best of both to fill that void in the marketplace." The Econo Roll machine is compatible with any 50 hp tractor with a single hydraulic system. It rolls and wraps hay, straw, or forage crops into a 1,000-pound, 5x5-foot plastic-protected package.

The 4,110-pound unit features an open-throat, positive start design, double spring tension for dense bale formation, and a six-bar pickup equipped with rubber-mounted tines. Nine 2-ply rubber belts handle the harvesting operation. A hydraulic tailgate releases and locks the hay package.

The Econo Roll includes three wrapping systems: a manual wrap for sisal or plastic twine to secure the bale, a net wrap, plus a plastic wrap system activated after the twine wrapping function takes place. The plastic wrap protects the round bale in a weather-tight package.

Red Wing Business Systesm has mad significant changes to their accounts payable software. The system can help farmers prepare computer-printed checks, and prepare 1099 forms for vendors that require them.

Red Wing Offers New Ag Computer Software

RED WING, MN. — Red Wing Business Systems, the leading publisher of agricultural computer software, announces significant changes to their Accounts Payable system.

Farmers and ranchers can use the Red Wing Accounts Payable system to easily take advantage of discounts from vendors, prepare computer printed checks and prepare 1099 forms for vendors that require them.

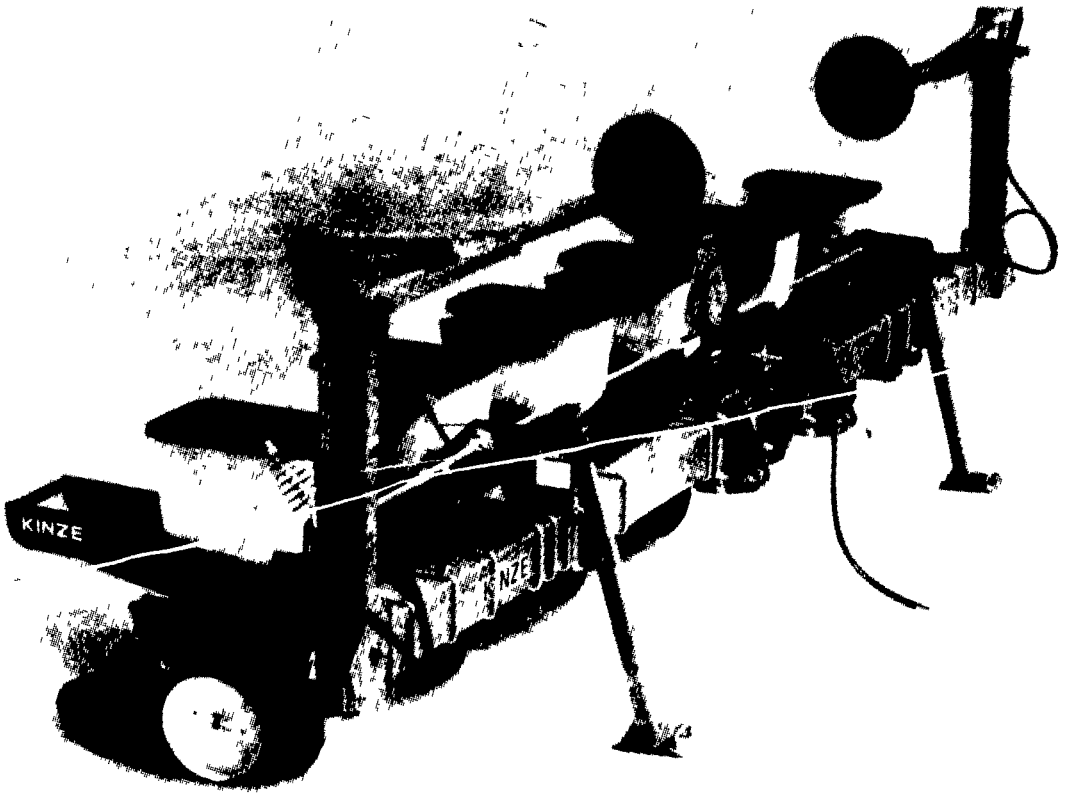
Lyle Warrington, president of Red Wing Business Systems, states that, "Probably the most useful report that our farm and ranch customers like is the Cash Requirements report. This report enables them to know exactly how much money they'll need to pay their bills for the upcoming months. By using this report, planning can be done to cover cash shortages and this keeps surprises to a minimum. Red Wing's Accounts Payable system makes bill paying manageable and it reduces the time required for reporting to the government."

In addition, the Accounts Payable system produces vendor analysis reports that are helpful for determining how much money has been spent with each individual vendor. "Our farm and ranch customers have found this report particularly helpful in planning for next year's volume requirements and in negotiating volume purchase discounts."

The new changes to the system also include handling more than one checking account, being able to use a laser printer to print reports, and now putting information into the system, or making changes, is easier. The speed of the Accounts Payable system has also been increased tremendously.

Red Wing Business Systems is the leading producer of financial management software for rural America. The Accounts Payable system and Red Wing's entire line of products are available through better computer dealers nationwide and in Canada.

For more information, please contact Patricia Brown, Red Wing Business Systems, Inc., 610 Main Street, Red Wing, MN 55066. Phone (612) 388-1106, ext. 307.



This planter is available in rigid frame models from two- to eight-row widths and in vertical folding models in eight- and 12-row widths. It comes with adjustable-height, clamp-on drive wheels, easy-acess end-mounted transmissions, and spring-loaded ratchet idlers.

Kinze Presents Three-Point Planters

WILLIAMSBURG, IA. — An innovative, versatile series of three-point mounted planers has been introduced by Kinze Manufacturing Co., according to Kinze President Jon Kinzenbaw.

The new Kinze Series II Three-point Mounted Planers are available in rigid frame models from two-to eight-row widths and in vertical hydraulic folding models in both eight-row wide and twelve-row widths. All of them feature "Precision Placement" row units with a "plateless planting" metering system for corn, beans or milo.

Each model also comes equipped with adjustable-height, clamp-on drive/gauge wheels, easy-access end-mounted transmissions and spring-loaded/ ratchet idlers that allow you to change rates and set tension without additional hand tools. A wide assortment of precision-cut plated sprockets creates up to 53 different combinations for a wide range of planting rates. 7/8-inch hex plated drive and drill shafts complete the drive system.

The larger vertically-folding planters are designed with a unique folding linkage which allows the wings to flex 10 degrees up or five degrees down, or to be pinned for rigid operation while eliminating side load on the folding cylinder. Positive over-center lock allows easy installation of the safety lock pin in the transport position. Rear-mounted, dual lift assist wheels are optional.

All of the planters are built with a heavy-duty 7x7-inch toolbar that's adjustable for category 2, 3N or 3 hitches.

Heavy-duty hydraulic markers are standard on all models (except 2-row). Low-profile 2-and 3-fold marker assemblies are standard on 6-row wide thru 12-row narrow sizes.

ClingSoft Liner Proves Highly Durable

HAMILTON, OH. — Dairyman Dale Garner didn't think he had a problem with slips and fall-offs in his dairy. At least he didn't think so until he tried De Laval's new ClingSoft™ 6100 liner.

Dale was pretty satisfied with his old choice, the De Laval 08 liner, but he thinks the ClingSoft is an improvement. "Some cows, when they were getting dry, would always slip with the old liner, but this one stays put," he explained. "There were considerably less slips after we put them on."

Dale thinks the ClingSoft liner also will prove more durable than the 08. In the past, the dairyman used his liners for one month and then gave them a rest, soaking them in lye water to remove the butterfat buildup. Eventually, Dale says, butterfat buildup actually could increase the size of the liners.

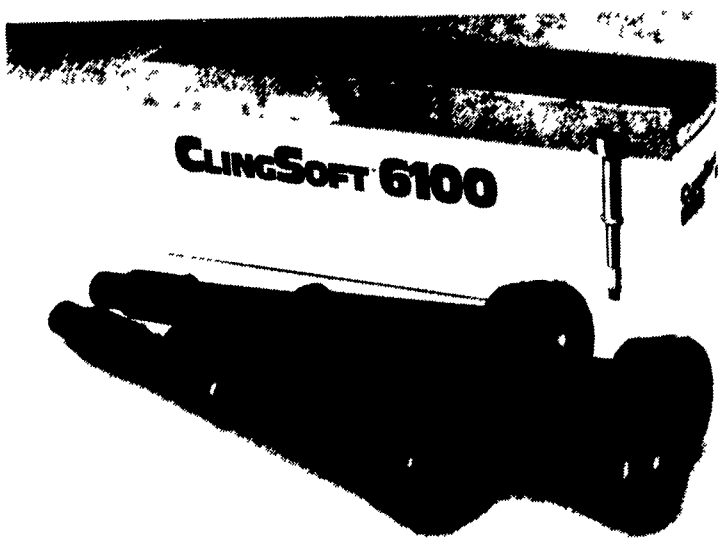
But the unique Delatex® rubber formulation of the ClingSoft liner discourages butterfat build-up, and Dale has no plans to rest his new liners. "We're using these right on through," he said.

Dale thinks the new liner's construction features — thicker rubber near the mouthpiece and a longer, puncture-resistant portion near the claw — will help it stay in good condition for the full 1,200 recommended milkings.

Dale Garner has operated his dairy for 35 years. His herd of 65 Holsteins produces a rolling herd average of more than 20,000 pounds. And his equipment is all De Laval.

He uses a De Laval herringbone parlor with four units on each side. He also has a YieldMaster system with FlowMaster milk meters and a RationMaster II automatic feeder. "We're all De Laval," he says.

Dale can usually milk his 65 cows in a little more than an hour. He doesn't believe the new liner has altered his milking time, but he is enthused with the reduced slippage and greater durability. "I think they're doing great," he says, adding that he plans to purchase ClingSoft liners when they become available.



De Laval's new ClingSoft liner reduces slips by 54.8 percent and helps eliminate fall-offs.

Case IH Dealer Offers Delayed First Payment On New Equipment

NEW BERLINVILLE (Berks) — Lawrence R. (Butch) Clauss Jr., salesmanager of Erb & Henry Equipment, is announcing a financing plan to assist buyers of new over-40 horsepower tractors and self-propelled combines.

The extended first payment financing program, available through Case Credit Corporation, allows a farmer who purchases a new tractor or combine to delay the first payment until January 1, 1990.

"Case IH is introducing this program because of the severe financial constraints being placed on some farmers by this year's drought," said Butch Clauss. "It is one more indication that we are listening and responding to our customers' needs."

The new program is tailored to be used in conjunction with other Case IH financing options, which may include low interest rate financing. The extended first payment program is designed to provide maximum benefit to buyers who select the annual payment plan. The annual payment schedule is most popular with farmers.

To find out more about this new program, contact Butch at Erb & Henry Equipment, (215) 367-2169.

Service Department Established

COLDWATER, OH — To improve dealer support and customer service capabilities White-New Idea has established a new marketing department, product and technical services. Product and technical services will encompass product and technical training; field service; warranty; and product and technical information. Ralph Baumheckel has been appointed director of this new department.

According to Baumheckel, the new department will expand and better coordinate services for both White and New Idea dealers and customers. "The department will provide prompt, uniform technical assistance, increase training schools for product and service, generate video training materials and provide manuals, parts books, and technical support materials for White and New Idea company personnel and dealers," said Baumheckel.

Baumheckel brings a solid background of management experience to the new position. Besides serving as a product manager for the New Idea self-propelled harvesting line, Baumheckel has held management and research positions at International Harvester, and at Farmhand, Inc. He graduated from Purdue University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in mechanical engineering.

Dexter Paulsen has been named senior product manager for the White Farm Equipment line and replaces Ralph Baumheckel as product manager for New Idea self-propelled harvesting equipment. As senior product manager for White, Paulsen will supervise the White tractors, tillage equipment and planter product lines as well as the marketing and pricing analysis for White-New Idea.

Paulsen's experience with the self-propelled harvester and the farm machinery industry began with Minneapolis-Moline. Paulsen was involved in the development of the "Uni-System" at Minneapolis-Moline before it was obtained by New Idea. Therefore, he is uniquely qualified to take over the product management responsibility for this product line.

Paulsen graduated from Oregon State University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Mechanical Engineering.

The White-New Idea Farm Equipment Division of Allied Products Corporation is a major manufacturer and distributor of two major farm equipment product lines with over 1500 dealers in North America. The White Farm Equipment line includes tractors, planters, tillage equipment and compact tractors and implements. The New Idea Farm Equipment line includes spreaders, planters, hay tools and self-propelled harvesting equipment.

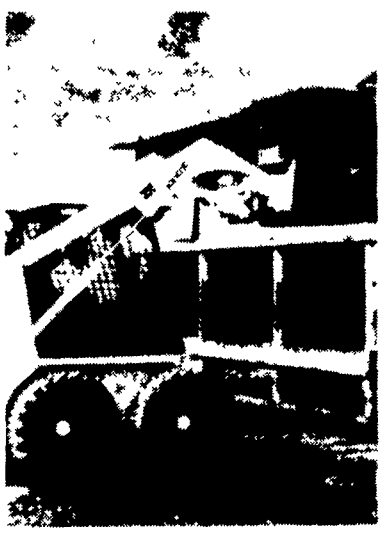
That Keeps On Workin'

440B WORKS ALL AROUND THE FARM - whether you're cleaning, loading, feeding or hauling. The 440B is a dependable little hired hand that'll cut down on a lot of your daily hand chores and free up your time. 440B...built small, compact and versatile to work in all those hard-to-reach places all around the farm.

FEEDING, handling grain, fertilizer, or hay, are just a few of daily chores for the versatile Bobcat. Working in and around pens and stalls are ideal jobs for the compact loader.

QUICK AND NIMBLE, the Bobcat utilizes 4-wheel drive, easy-to-handle responsive controls and turn-around-in-its-tracks maneuverability to get into tight places where bigger machines won't fit



BOBCAT BUILDS 'EM BIG TOO...all the way through the light-to-medium duty 400, 500, 600 and 700 series to the beefed-up 800 and 900 series workhorses.

MESSY MANURE HANDLING becomes neat and easy with Bobcat. Hog farmers especially thank Bobcat for the hand labor it saves in cleaning out barns and pens, loading manure and feeding

SLICK CONCRETE CAN BE ROUGHENED

SCABBLING is an effective way to avoid unnecessary losses of cattle. The SCABBLER makes bands about two inches wide approximately 1/8" to 3/16 in. depth. This gives sufficient area for good footing while allowing you to scrape the smooth surface as before. It is near enough to the surface to give your cows full advantage of the roughness and deep enough to remain effective for years. It greatly aids in heat detection.

And the good news is that it is reasonably priced. You have the choice of doing it yourself or having us do it for you. We offer service right to your door. Call us for more details.

Alfa-Laval Offers Pulse Indicator For Milk Lines

KANSAS CITY, MO — For the first time, dairymen can detect pulsator failures without interrupting the milking routine, thanks to a revolutionary device recently introduced by Alfa-Laval Agri, Inc.

The Pulse Indicator enables dairymen to determine -- at a glance and as milking progresses -- if any pulsator is malfunctioning. This is the first time dairymen have been offered this capability.

With the Pulse Indicator pulsation failure is immediately apparent.

The device is ingeniously simple -- consisting of a short, clear plastic tube that contains a fluorescent red plastic ball. The Pulse Indicator is inserted into the pulsation air line, about eight inches from the pulsator, and can be installed in a matter of seconds.

As air travels through the line, the red ball moves back and forth, indicating the air flow to and from the milking claw. If the ball does not move, or if it moves erractically, the dairyman knows there is a pulsation problem and can take corrective action before serious damage occurs.

Alfa-Laval's Pulse Indicator can be used in either a stanchion/tie stall barn or in a parlor. It works equally well when inserted into the pulsation air line horizontally, vertically or at any angle in-between. The device works with any type or brand of pulsator.

Air restriction through the Pulse Indicator is minimal. A ratio within 5 percent of the designed ratio is usually considered normal. The Pulse Indicator results in a change in the pulsation ratio of less than 0.5 percent. For example, 70:30 pulsation would become 69:5:30.5 with the indicator in place.

According to Bob Gray, milking products group director at Alfa-Laval, this minimal air restriction is far outweighed by the benefits the Pulse Indicator provides.

"I can't think of any dairyman who wouldn't gladly sacrifice such a small change in pulsation ratio for the assurance that all his pulsators are working," Gray said, "especially when you consider the Pulse Indicator's other advantages.

"This device provides a new level of convenience of the dairyman, and an added measure of safety for his cows," he said.

"What's more," Gray added, "the Pulse Indicator is reliable and inexpensive. In fact, it's the cheapest insurance policy a dairyman can have. That's why every dairyman should have a Pulse Indicator on every one of his pulsators."

Alfa-Laval Pulse Indicators are available exclusively at De Laval dealerships nationwide. The list price for a package of four indicators is $8.35.

"Baby Face" Steals The Show At Manheim

BY PAT PURCELL

MANHEIM (Lancaster) — Melissa Becker was not the only one who thought her Hampshire champion sale lamb had the 'cutest little babyface'. Bill McCauley, Manheim sheep show judge thought so, too, and made "Babyface" the overall grand champion of the show.

It was the smoothness and muscling which gave "Babyface" the edge over the competition. This heavyweight grand champion was one of four Hampshires purchased by Melissa's parents, Marlin and Nancy, at the Mid-Atlantic livestock sale in May. This is the Manheim youth's first year in 4-H and her second win with the heavyweight Hamp. Her first win came in the open show of the Elizabethtown Fair this year.

In shows earlier this season Melissa's inability to control her animal in the showring kept her out of the winner's circle. But a few words from her father changed that. Melissa was quick to credit her father for the win at Manheim.

"My Dad just told me I had to work harder and do better and not let the sheep pull me around the ring. So I did start working harder," admitted Melissa. "And I'm really glad I did now. I'm glad my Dad talked to me."

Aaron Groff of Elizabethtown, son of Joe and Ginger Groff, exhibited the reserve overall champion after taking the reserve championship in the sale lamb competition.

Show judge Bill McCauley, Jr. a Suffolk breeder and 1987 Penn State graduate said he found it very difficult to separate the two champions in sale lamb contest. It was the Hampshire's muscling and legs which convinced McCauley to go with the Becker's Hampshire.

Jeff Martin of East Earl captured the supreme champion title of the breeding contest with his Suffolk ewe lamb. The overall size and smoothness of the lamb impressed the judge. Jeff and his brother Doug maintain a flock of 25.

Laura Folker of New Holland took the grand champion market lamb title with her 130-lb. Hampshire. Wendall Landis of Manheim captured the reserve grand champion market lamb with 123-lb. Dorset.

Hard work, determination and an exceptional looking Hampshire named "Baby Face" earned Manheim's Melissa Becker the grand champion sale lamb trophy and the coveted overall grand champion trophy of the Manheim Fair's sheep show.

Laura Folker's Hampshire took the championship in the heavyweight class of the market lamb contest and earned the grand champion trophy for the market lamb show.

Jeff Martin's 130-pound Suffolk ewe lamb earned the Manheim Fair's supreme champion title in the breeding sheep show. Bill McCauley, show judge, made the presentation.

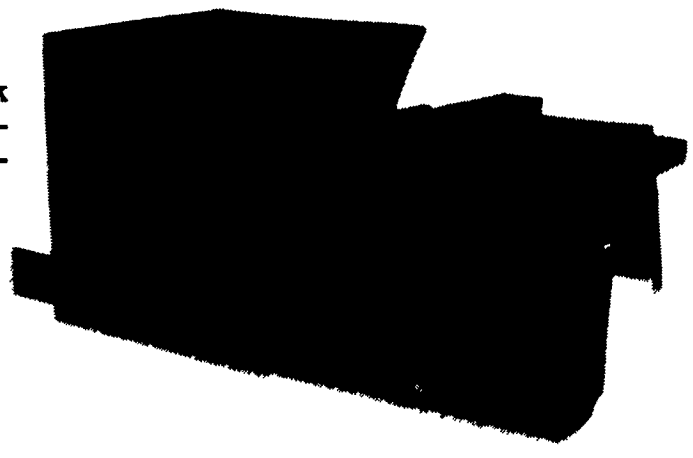
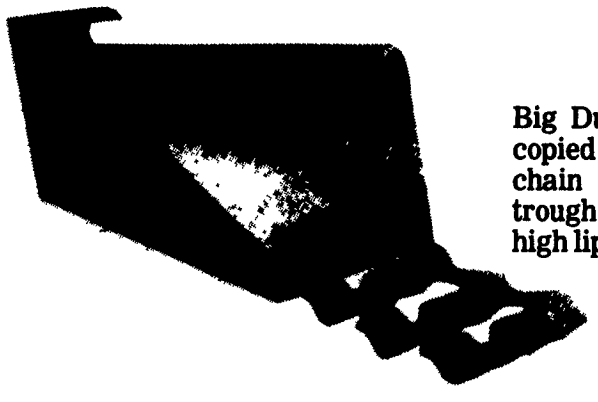
BIG DUTCHMAN FEEDING SYSTEMS FOR LAYER AND PULLET CAGES

Built on Thoroughly Proven Designs. No Other Feeder Beats it for Reliability and Performance

The straight hopper drive unit is easy to work with and simplifies maintenance. The standard hopper is powered by a helical gear-motor drive.





Big Dutchman feeder chain is the original, which is now copied by nearly all poultry equipment companies. The chain literally carries feed in the trough. The Big Lip trough effectively reduces spillage because of the extra high lip and curl.

Corner wheel assembly guides the chain and feed around the turns to make the endless flat chain conveyor possible. The fluted idler wheel and corner rail keep the chain running true.
